Out of Their Element

Here's what happened when a railway locomotive imagined it was a battleship and leaped into the Mystic River at South Boston, Mass. The crew leaped to safety and none was hurt. At the same time——the passenger steamer Empress got the idea it could navigate on land and went ashore outside of St. Johns (N. B.) harbor. Passengers were removed unharmed despite a dense fog. Repeated efforts have failed to dislodge the ship from the rocks.

REFUGEE PROBLEM GROWING SERIOUS

ATHENS, October 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Reliable advice from various parts of Greece, including the islands, indicate the growing seriousness of the refugee problem.

Thousands of persons are terribly emaciated from lack of nourishment and suffering from exposure and the insanitary conditions in which they are forced to exist. The refugees, the majority of whom are women, children and old men, were sleeping in parks, cellars and attics and generally about fifty to a room.

The authorities estimate Greece will have a million refugees to support when eastern Thrace is evacuated. The Thracian deputies have announced they will appeal to Herbert Hoover for assistance.

Twenty thousand refugees are reported to have been moved from the island of Mitilene, off the Smyrna coast to Crete and Piraeus.

Engagement Of Prominent Southern Couple Broken Following Sensational Charges

ATLANTA, Ga., October 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Mrs. Onezima DeBouchelle, divorcee of New Orleans, La., whose engagement to Asa Candler, Sr., Atlanta capitalist, has been terminated, today said that "a deep sympathy for a lonely old man whose children had grown away from him and a companionship, rather than love, inspired my engagement."

Mrs. DeBouchelle today awaited the arrival of her attorney from New Orleans for a conference relative to charges of indiscretion brought against her by Mr. Candler.

In a public statement yesterday, Mrs. DeBouchelle said Mr. Candler had informed her it would be impossible for him to marry her as he had received information she had invited two men to visit her rooms in a hotel during the Confederate reunion here in 1919.

"Mr. Candler shall tell to the world that the slander of unprincipled men is not the reason he has cast off the woman whom he asked to be his wife," she reiterated today. "He must disclose the slanders of his character; tell me and the world that women are not always fortune hunters—that heritage of pride does not succumb to material desires."

Until she has conferred with her attorney, Harry Gamble, whom she expected to arrive during the day, Mrs. DeBouchelle said she would be unable to say definitely what court action, if any, would be taken.

Mr. Candler's only reply to her published statements was issued through his attorney's after he was said to have left Atlanta yesterday.

He asserted that confidential information given him by friends had made a marriage with Mrs. DeBouchelle impossible and that he would not disclose the names of his informants.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., October 11.—(By the Associated Press)—William Leggett, formerly of Atlanta, Ga., now living here, volunteered the statement today that he was the traveling salesman mentioned by Asa Candler in the statement published by Mrs. Onezima DeBouchelle involved in alleged reports of visits to her rooms in Atlanta during a Confederate reunion in 1919.

"The story attributed to Candler is a lie," declared Leggett. "It is a fabrication of scandal mongers. There is no fine woman on earth than Mrs. DeBouchelle."

"Mr. Candler and I," Leggett said, "were the only two men who could be mentioned as spending time with Mrs. DeBouchelle during the Confederate reunion and she was constantly in my company, she being chaplain general of the convention and I entertaining delegates, and there were always several young ladies present."

"But never at a single time was she with me alone."

Turks Yield To Allied Demands

MUDANIA, October 11.—(By the Associated Press)—The armistice convention signed by the representatives of the Turkish nationalists and the allied powers here late last night contains the exact terms as submitted by Lieutenant Harington, the British delegate, and the specifications of which were made public yesterday by the Associated Press.

Ismet Pasha, the Turkish representative held out for a larger number of gendarmes in eastern Thrace, but eventually gave in on every point of the allied demands.

General Harington and General Charpy, the latter the French delegate left for Constantinople this morning aboard their warships.

BRITISH PREMIER TO REPLY TO CRITICS OF NEAR EAST POLICY

LONDON, October 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Prime Minister Lloyd George has announced his intention of replying publicly at Manchester on Saturday to the torrent of condemnatory criticism recently aimed at the near eastern policy of the government.

This sudden announcement has taken the press by surprise and brought general interest in the domestic political situation to a keener focus than ever. It also coincides with increased definiteness in the rumors of an early breakup of the present coalition.

Necessarily a general election is commonly discussed as a matter of more or less certainty. The opinion of the majority of the political experts, however, is that Mr. Lloyd George has no intention of resigning and that he will put up a big fight on behalf of the coalition in which he will have the support of Austen Chamberlain in the latter's forthcoming speech at Birmingham.

At the same time there are some who are confidently referring dissolution of parliament and a general election in a manner implying knowledge that the premier has already decided upon this course.

Speculation is very busy over the probable result of an appeal to the country. The conservatives are credited in some quarters with ability to secure a larger number of seats in the house of commons than any other party, though not enough to out-vote them. It is supposed that the liberals and laborites there—and such a combination is one of the many matters of conjecture.

Elsewhere the growing strength of labor is emphasized and the labor leaders themselves speak as though they were confident of sweeping the polls and taking office. It does not seem to be supposed that the liberals would be able to rally enough unpledged support to bring them into power.

One important result of the crisis, according to two or three of the papers, is that Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the exchequer has postponed his trip to the United States and that the debt funding mission will not be undertaken by another, being held up until Sir Robert feels free to go.

Traveling Salesmen To Close Convention

CINCINNATI, O., October 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Dr. Charles Aubrey Eaton, of New Jersey, Judge J. H. D. Stevens, Nashville, and Roger W. Babson, of Wellesley Hills, Mass., were on the program as speakers at the closing session of the annual convention of the national council of traveling salesmen's associations here today.

It was announced that the national council is made up of 31 associations representing a membership of 100,000 and speaking for 750,000 traveling salesmen of the United States.

Delegates are here from all the organizations, the aggregate business of which runs into billions of dollars. Officers of the Association are not elected at the fall meeting but at another session during the year.

OPEN BREAKS IN UNIONS STARTLE LABOR WORLD

CLEVELAND, O., October 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Open breaks between the big railroad unions of the nation heretofore closely allied in negotiations with railroads following the labor world today. Following the bolt of W. T. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen from the big four brotherhood, came the announcement of a split in the ranks of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, comprising clerks, freight handlers, expressmen and station employees. Dissatisfaction with the clerks' brotherhood, numbers of its members have withdrawn and organized a new national union known as The Brotherhood of Office Employees of The Common Carriers. H. D. Carr and L. H. Scott, of Cleveland, are president and secretary-treasurer, respectively of the new brotherhood. The clerks became dissatisfied because the old brotherhood included so many branches of employment that related to their work and decided that more satisfactory results could be obtained by forming a new organization, P. W. Heebbrand, assistant chairman of the New York Central employees, who belong to the new brotherhood, said today. The Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks have a total membership of 260,000. The national headquarters of the old organization are at Cincinnati.

National headquarters of the new brotherhood have been established here.

Leaders In Grain Trade Are Called In To Testify In Probe Of "Futures" Trading

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—J. Ogden Armour, Joseph P. Griffin and other leading figures in the world's grain trade, were called to testify today before the federal trade commission in its investigation of trading in futures.

With the hearing under way, the Chicago Board of Trade has launched an attack on the validity of the Capper-Tincher act placing the regulation of grain exchanges in the hands of the secretary of agriculture.

Test of the validity of the future trading act will be made before the United States supreme court on the same grounds on which the court held the former Capper-Tincher law unconstitutional, according to Henry S. Robbins, attorney for the board.

Action in the former proceedings was taken individually by traders. In the ruling Chief Justice Taft stated that the suit should have been filed by the board itself and in consequence directors of the board last night voted to wage the new contest as an official action in the name of the board of trade.

TURKS FILTER INTO THRACE

RODOSTO, THRACE, October 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Five thousand Turkish nationalist soldiers in civilian attire have filtered into eastern Thrace during the last fortnight for the purpose of facilitating the Turkish occupation of the province, according to information received by the allied mission here. The nationalist soldiers have mostly come in with groups of refugees, making their detection difficult. The local Greeks declare the object of this infiltration is to foment disturbances, organize bands of irregulars and gather information for reprisals against the Greeks.

Seek To Stamp Out Labor Debates

CINCINNATI, O., October 11.—(By the Associated Press)—The executive committee of the National Association of Electric Contractors and Dealers will recommend to the association at its convention which opens here today, that three sections be provided in the National Association in an effort to free their annual convention from labor discussions which come up regularly on the floor. One section would be for contractors employing union labor, another for those employing non-union labor, and another for those who desire to take a neutral stand. Farquison Johnson, secretary-treasurer, said.

LIQUOR TAKEN OFF PALATIAL BARS, U.S. "DRY" ON SEAS

NEW YORK, October 11.—(By the United Press)—The dry navy will seize the Homer, the White Star liner that left Southampton, England, today with a cargo of liquor on board in defiance of the Daugherty order. It was stated at the office of Zone Officer Appleby, this afternoon.

"We'll be on the lookout for the Homer," said E. C. Reed, a member of Chief Appleby's squad. "If the boat has a drop of liquor on board, we'll seize her."

NEW YORK, October 11.—(By the Associated Press)—The American steamship President Garfield came in from Queenstown today with even the bartender's mop rag dry and no fresh footprints on the old brass rail, the bar having been closed since Monday when the ship heard of the Daugherty prohibition ruling by radio.

Passengers with a flare for cheering cocktails did not complain of the dryness because they were warned several hours before the bar closed that then was the time for all good fellows to lay private stocks in their cabins.

WATER FRONT, N. Y., October 11.—(By the United Press)—John Barleycorn walked the plank today. The last snifter is being removed from the palatial bars of the vessels of the United States Shipping Board under the order which makes America dry on the seas. Barleycorn gave up the ghost without a struggle, and plunged into Davy Jones' locker. The shipping board voluntarily consented to the removal of liquor stores which obligated any raids by the land lubber liquor forces. Battle after battle of sea-going liquor ruled off the surf by Attorney General Daugherty, was spirited away to the army base in Brooklyn. What will become of the liquor taken off the ships is not known. "We are swamped with calls from owners of other American vessels who ask us to come and get it," John D. Appleby, chief of this area, said. "And we are going after it today."

TO TEST LIQUOR RULING

WASHINGTON, October 11.—(By the United Press)—An effort by foreign ship owners to set aside that part of the Daugherty ruling which bans from the three mile limit all foreign vessels with liquor aboard, is expected by the treasury and the justice departments here. Confident the ruling will be held valid by the Supreme Court Attorney General Daugherty has expressed intention to co-operate to the fullest extent with any persons who will bring the matter before the court. Representatives of foreign ship operators are preparing in behalf of all a single test case which will be presented to the federal court for the Southern District of New York before the end of the week. No doubt is felt by Daugherty that the ruling is air-tight in every respect. So far as American vessels are concerned, the status of the liquor aboard seems to be definitely settled and the ruling to have been completely accepted by American ship owners.

CITIZENS AROUSED OVER MURDER MYSTERY; DETECTIVE ATTACKED

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., October 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Frank P. Kirby, a Middlesex county detective, credited with having obtained the statement from Raymond Schneider on which Clifford Hayes, 39 years old, was charged with the murders of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, rector of the Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist, and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, was attacked by a group of indignant citizens here early today.

Bombarded with bricks, Kirby escaped unhurt by locking himself in the baggage room at the New Brunswick Pennsylvania station. Later he was surrounded by armed policemen and escorted to police headquarters, while the crowd dispersed.

Kirby was met by the group of citizens as he emerged from the Pennsylvania station on his return from Somerville, where he had sought unsuccessfully to obtain a confession from Hayes.

Claim a Frame-Up

Members of the crowd protested angrily to Kirby against the arrest of Hayes, declaring they considered it a "frame-up" to quiet the indignation of citizens and snuff an aroused governor by making it appear that the mystery had been cleared.

Prosecutor Makes Admission

Outstanding developments included the arrests of Pearl Bahner, 15 years old, who was with Schneider when the two bodies were found, as an accomplice, and of Nicholas Bahner, her stepfather, held on a criminal charge, preferred by the girl, and the intimation by one of the chief investigators that Hayes' arrest did not solve the mystery—that in fact "we've just started to work on the case."

Middlesex county detectives expected to interview Mrs. Frances Hall, widow of the slain rector, again today.

WILL GIVE POMERENE GREAT WELCOME

NEW EYES FOR OLD

BY
L. KATHERINE MO ELLER WALDRON

Scioto County Democrats and the citizens in general are planning to give Senator Albie Pomerene a hearty greeting when he comes to Portsmouth Thursday to speak in the interest of his candidacy for reelection.

Much interest centers in the coming of the distinguished visitor, who is regarded as one of the most courageous and fearless statesmen that ever represented the Buckeye state in the upper house of congress, and his message, coming from one with first-hand information on the doings in the National Capital, will be of much value to the state.

The noted Buckeye leader is expected to arrive in the city early Thursday forenoon from Ironton and at the noon hour he will address the Kiwanis Club while in the evening he will speak at a public meeting in the High School Auditorium. This meeting promises to be the banner rally of the fall campaign on the Democratic side in this city, and it is planned to give the Senator a most enthusiastic and rousing reception.

The senator is immensely popular with the voters of Portsmouth and it is predicted that the auditorium will not hold the throng which is expected to turn out to hear the champion of the common people discuss the issues of the campaign. He is a gifted orator and his straightness from the shoulder.

The River City band has been engaged for the occasion and will give a concert at the High School preceding the meeting.

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. John Hunt of Gallia avenue went to Jackson this morning to attend the funeral of their grandfather, Mr. J. Cohorn, which took place this afternoon.

The East Portsmouth W. C. T. U. will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Philip Marr, 2022 Eighteenth street. The assistant hostesses will be Mrs. J. S. Dunn, Mrs. W. H. Frye and Mrs. Frank Webb. A full attendance is urged.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Torgue have moved from 1100 Lawson street to 514 Fourth street. Their new telephone number is 758-W.

All members of Trinity church choir are requested to meet for practice tomorrow (Thursday) evening. Mrs. Lucien Doty, the new organist, desires that all singers be present at seven o'clock.

Mrs. Kenneth Taylor of Gallia avenue was removed to Hempstead hospital today, where she will undergo an operation Thursday.

Mrs. J. T. Lynn entertained with a pretty birthday party, Tuesday afternoon at her attractive home on Scioto trail, in honor of the second birthday anniversary of her winsome little son, Jimmie Lynn. The rooms were beautifully decorated for the occasion in yellow and black, in keeping with the Halloween season. The table was prettily appointed and lighted with small Jack-O'-Lanterns. A white birthday cake mounted with two gleaming candles, centered the table and the favors were black and yellow baskets filled with candies.

Places were marked for Jimmie Lynn, Laura Jane Gilmer, Janet Dressler, Martha Paden, Irene Noel, Nicky Corlett, Carolyn Clark, George and Billie Turner and Joseph Duzan.

Mrs. Lynn was assisted in entertaining and serving the children by Mrs. Lee Turner and Mrs. Clarence Duzan.

Mrs. Alice Adams of Nauvoo went to Columbus this afternoon to visit her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hunt and son, Herbert, and Mrs. Jack Lowe of Columbus were the week-end guests of Mrs. J. H. Shugland of 1101 Offene street.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Rolden and two children have returned to their home in Columbus after a few days' visit with relatives in this city.

A delicious chicken supper will be one of the attractive features of the bazaar to be given by the Ladies Aid Society of All Saints' church on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, November 7th and 8th. The supper will be served on the opening night.

The ladies are working on many fancy articles suitable for Christmas gifts, which will be placed on sale at the bazaar.

The New Bridge Club will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. K. Smith, on Third street.

From nine o'clock this morning until five tomorrow, they are giving well eyes free of charge to anyone with "sore" eyes, down at the Gay Street Dispensary, maintained by the Bureau of Community Service.

Efficient doctors, sympathetic and skillful nurses, assisted by experienced social workers are all fighting together in a wonderful co-operative effort to put an end to trachoma, one of the most insidious and dangerous diseases Ohio has ever been called upon to subdue. It is a real practical example of community brotherhood—this banding together of state, county, and city health forces, aided by the Bureau of Community Service and local Red Cross, in order that the public may be spared the ravages of blindness.

There is an underlying idealism for the fight is primarily held in order that the children of today may not become the blind dependents of tomorrow.

For the past three weeks, steady preparation has been made for these two busy days. Roll after roll of disinfected bandages have been prepared, rows of white enameled beds covered with fresh, clean smelling linen, set up in the upper portion of the dispensary, and everything put in order for the simple treatments which will banish forever these "sore eyes" and prevent little hands from groping their way through life in perpetual darkness.

Many hours before even the earliest workers had arisen this morning in Portsmouth, out in the country districts, families were snatching an early breakfast before cranking up the noisy flivver and taking an early trip into town.

Long before the doors of this free Trachoma Clinic were open, groups of folk clustered around the Bureau Dispensary in the chill morning air, waiting for the "doctor-folks" to come, who would take that "hurting feeling" out of their eyes. Children, sometimes three or four in a single family gathered around waiting for the doors to open and the miracle to be performed that would let them see their books again.

Farmers from the furthest outskirts of Scioto county, with manacles full of children with lustrous eyes, mothered over by weary looking women, many times with babies in arms, sat and waited.

"They didn't utter make all this fuss about sore eyes, when I was a young'un," one old farmer gossiped, extending a package of Red Horse chewing tobacco with generous backwoods liberality. "But the youngsters ain't allowed to get no schoolin' till their eyes was fixed, so I towed ter my wife we'd harness up the Ford, and here we be."

"Got four in my family," his lister replied, masticating rapidly his Red Horse and extending his hands for another mouthful. "Beats all how ketching the durned stuff is."

"Must be some new-fangled kind of sickness," the first farmer replied. "Sore eyes was just sore eyes in our day."

More expert care for treatment of the eyes could not be secured in the most expensive and exclusive hospital in the United States. Dr. J. A. Eldridge, a national authority on trachoma, is in charge of the treatment, assisted by Dr. Blanche Hopkinson, and Dr. Tate of the State Board of Health. Dr. O. J. Tatje, heading the Portsmouth Board of Health is co-operating with the state and national authorities, together with Dr. Geo. B. Brown, Dr. Harry F. Rapp, and Dr. J. N. Ellison. The staff of nurses includes Nancy Johnston, of the Bureau of Community Service, Ada Mae Lammers, with the Scioto Red Cross, Len Blume, the county nurse, Myrtle Keppler, the school nurse, and Miss Anne Gallagher of the State Board of Health, and Miss Laudan.

The entire lower portion of the dispensary has been made into a waiting room for patients. Here examinations are made and upstairs the operating room has been especially fitted up to take care of the specialized treatments for this disease.

One of the first to appear this morning was a youngster leading his sister by the hand, unquestionably in need of treatment.

"Are you a patient again," asked Nancy Johnston, the Community nurse.

"Patient nothing," replied young America, "but I am a Boy Scout, and I thought my good turn today was to bring my sister down here to be fixed up."

The little girl frightened by all the strange faces, commenced to whimper.

"Don't cry, sis," the boy pleaded. "They won't hurt you none. Gee, I just climbed up on the table last week, and the doctor rubbed something over my eyes, and presto-change—I was all set."

In the lower waiting room, I met Dr. Eldridge, busily engaged in looking over the various suspect eye cases. We were introduced, I noticed a faint glint of amusement appear in his eyes, but they sobered down and regained their professional aspect.

"We are working very hard," the doctor said, "to put trachoma in the same class as small-pox, because the younger generation does not realize what a terrifying scourge it is, and we hope to have trachoma considered in that light some day soon."

"We have examined 17 cases and treated 13. I find that the people of Portsmouth and Scioto county are beginning to realize how simple these treatments are and how they prevent blindness. There is a greater response this year than when we held our first clinic several years ago."

As we chatted for a few minutes, I discovered we were fellow-townsmen, for his home was originally in Boston, as was mine, and we chatted for a few minutes on our mutual acquaintances in that city.

The doctor turned and motioned a little child to take the seat near the examination table.

"You ain't goin' to hurt me none, are you mister?"

With a laugh of reassurance, the doctor turned the eyelids down, chatting all the time in cheerful tones to the patient.

"Is that all," the youngster asked, as he climbed down from the chair.

"Not quite all," Dr. Eldridge replied. "We are going to take you upstairs and make those smiling eyes like new."

The father, an old Kentucky mountaineer, standing close by ventured a remark.

"I don't know how he done got it, Doctor. I know my own eyes have been hurting, but that was because I got powerful het up during the recent hot spell. But I don't see how the youngster could have been het up."

The doctor stepped over and examined his eyelids.

"I guess you're bound up-stairs too," he laughed.

The man ventured to apostatize. "You will be all het up if you lose the sight of your eyes."

And so the cases come, sometimes by two and often three and four children in a single family, all afflicted with the same disease. One little mother, without auto or conveyance, poor and almost destitute, walked a distance of three miles this morning with her children in order that they might receive the free treatments.

Upstairs, over the little cots assisting the nurses, loving mothers bent over the children, who had already undergone the splendid treatments, which has forever banished the blind bogey.

One youngster sat up in bed and pointed his finger at another youngster, three beds over.

"Gee, guys," he yelled, "there is the fraid lady, who cried and thought he was going to be killed, but it didn't hurt a bit, did it?"

The boy grunted shamefacedly and turned his back to the wall.

A little girl lying on a bed near the door, smiling sweetly at me as I passed, and when I asked: Aren't you glad it's over?" she replied: "It didn't hurt me none, but I am glad I can see now because I want to go to school."

One man, whether a patient or not could not be learned, stood, interlarded, around from the time the door opened this morning until late in the afternoon. As he watched the nurses caring for each case in kind, sympathetic fashion, he said spontaneously:

"I never realized what this Dispensary of the Bureau of Community Service does. In fact, I never had much faith in social service welfare before. I am through knocking. From now on, I am a booster. It is wonderful work—just wonderful."

Talking with Dr. Tatje, just as he came from the room where the treatments were given, still clad in his surgeon's gown and gloves, I asked him what he thought of the trachoma situation in Portsmouth.

"If the people only work as hard in the future, as they have in the past," he said, "there will be the same gratifying decrease as there was this year in Portsmouth. The people are awakening to the realization of its dangers, and are doing all within their power to check its spread. If the same concentrated effort which has been made in the past is continued, I feel very sure another few years will see the end of this pest."

As I left the dispensary where new eyes were given out for sore eyes, an incident which I witnessed last summer flashed across my mind. I stood again in bustling bustling Times Square, New York, outside one of the largest motion picture theatres on Broadway and watched traffic on the street held up while four hundred little blind children picked their way across the street towards the theatre where the manager was giving a special performance to the blind.

There is always something pathetic in watching the movements of an individual without sight, especially a child—and the feeling is of course intensified when musing of several hundred times. I remembered the uncertain way those little feet had groped up the unfamiliar lobby, hurrying with pathetic eagerness towards a picture which would be "seen" by little fingers laboriously over the raised letter story of the picture.

And I wished every mother and father in this country who are keeping children away from these treatments because of ignorance, neglect or disinclination could have seen those little children that hot sultry day and realize they were placing the same terrible handicap on their own flesh and blood.

Isn't there a verse in the Bible that reads: "Whosoever shall offend even one of these little ones it is better for him that a millstone were hanged around his neck and he was cast into the sea."

Citizens

The authorities today turned their attention to investigating a report that a blood stained basket which was seen near the bodies of the slain rector and his choir leader on the day they were discovered, had disappeared.

Four persons, it was said, saw this basket a few hundred feet from the bodies. The basket which was made of wood, was filled with rugs and papers. Some of the papers bore large splashes of what appeared to be blood, it was asserted.

During the excitement incident to the discovery of the crime the basket disappeared. The authorities said they could not account for its disappearance. The persons who are said to have seen the basket, were unwilling to tell the authorities about it, before, it was said, because they disliked the idea of being drawn into the investigation.

Announcement was made today that a committee of citizens in the Sixteenth Ward where Clifford Hayes lived, would hold a "tag day" on Saturday for the purpose of raising funds for his legal defense.

Thomas F. Hagerly, counsel for Clifford Hayes, the nineteen-year-old boy held on a charge of murdering the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, announced today that he had proof that Hayes was at home in bed at the hour when Raymond Schneider, who is held as a material witness, charges he committed the crime.

Schneider, in a signed statement, declared Hayes shot the pair on the deserted Phillips farm near here about 1:30 on the morning of September 13, thinking them Nicholas Bahner and his fifteen-year-old daughter, Pearl Bahner.

Hagerly said Hayes told him, and that his statement was confirmed by his entire family, that he returned home at 12:45 and went immediately to bed.

Hayes admitted he had been in Buecheusch Park that night with Schneider, hunting for Bahner and Pearl, the lawyer said, but denied that he had been on the Phillips farm at all.

The lawyer declared he was also entirely convinced of Hayes' innocence. That many of the residents of New Brunswick share his belief, has been proven by several times in the last twelve hours, he said.

The authorities returned part of their attention to checking up new stories told by Pearl Bahner. She sought in her latest story today to turn suspicion on her father, who she asserted had more than once threatened to cut her throat. Mrs. Mills' throat was cut and the story told by Schneider of an attack by Hayes, fails to explain this fact.

The girl said that after she had walked with her father as far as Buecheusch Park on the night of September 14, and had had the encounter of which she had earlier, with Schneider, Hayes and Leon Kauffman, her father took her home and told her to go to bed at once. This, she said, was around 10 o'clock. Looking out her window, she declared, she saw her father walking about and muttering to himself.

Bahner, who was arrested last night on a statutory charge preferred by his daughter after she had been locked up as an incorrigible, was uncommunicative in his cell today.

A partial check of his record showed Bahner had served a prison sentence for highway robbery and a term in the work house for malicious mischief.

Bahner was given a stiff grilling today. He maintained he had gone to bed around ten o'clock after returning with Pearl from the park.

He denied that he was intoxicated and also denied Pearl's assertions that he habitually carried a pistol and that he had threatened to cut her throat.

He admitted he had a pistol on the night of the murders, explaining he had borrowed it to use on Schneider, whose attentions to Pearl he resented. This pistol, he declared, was of .45 calibre, while that used to slay Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills was a .32.

The "tag day" proposal to raise a Hayes "justice fund" was placed before the Lions' Club, an organization of business men at a luncheon today, and was enthusiastically received.

Oct. 11th, 1922

Dear Reader:—

Suppose you entered a factory where electrical machinery was in operation and suddenly all the machines stopped running, as suddenly started again, and a dozen fuses in the place blew out—where would you look for the CAUSE of all this trouble? Not in the machines, but at the power house or in a short circuit on the main line. The machines couldn't help running irregularly, for the current from the dynamo reached them irregularly.

Suppose your heart races ahead or skips a beat, your stomach does not digest ordinary food, and your kidneys dam back into the system waste products which ordinarily they would expel—where is the CAUSE of all this trouble? Not in these organs, but in the Nervous System. They cannot help functioning irregularly, for the nerve force from the brain reaches them irregularly.

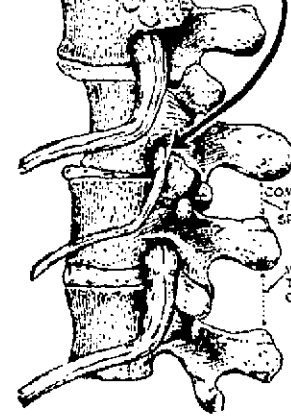

Whenever there is irregular organic functioning there is a "short circuit," a pinched nerve somewhere between the human dynamo, the brain and the body machinery—heart, lungs, liver, kidneys and the like. Remember that so long as this nerve pressure exists you cannot be well, strong and vigorous. This fact, now well known to scientific investigators, explains why drugs and operations relieve only temporarily, for they do not remove the underlying CAUSE of sickness and disease which is nerve pressure.

Chiropractic accounts for, locates and removes nerve pressure, which occurs at the spine, as shown in cut. The wonderful results of Spinal Adjustments have made Chiropractic the most talked about system in this country.

Come to our office and we will tell you your trouble and what can be done in your case.

Yours for health,

Knechtly & Knechtly, D. C.'s.

REPUBLICAN NOTICE

In order that an elector of the city may vote at the election next month it is absolutely necessary that such elector cause himself to be registered.

Only persons who failed to register last Presidential year or since, or those who have become qualified since then are required to register. ## LOCAL REPUBLICANS MEET

At a well attended meeting of the Scioto County Republican Club Tuesday night, George E. Matthews, representative of Scioto county, was the principal speaker. F. B. Winter, presided over the meeting.

Mr. Matthews paid his respects to the Democratic party and did not mince any words.

President Winter then introduced the seven candidates for county offices, Virgil Fowler, for coroner; John Bennett, for commissioner; Russell Ketter, for recorder; Henry Ruel, for treasurer; Wes Carson, for clerk of courts; Roy H. Coburn, for auditor, and Harry Dunham, for sheriff. Each of these men were optimistic of their success, and were of the opinion that conditions could not be more favorable than they are.

Judge T. C. Beatty gave a splendid talk in which he urged the members to cooperate to make a success of the coming election.

Mrs. Cornelia Treuthart was present last evening and her report of the outlook in the women's field was welcome news to those present. She stated that she was a Republican by conviction.

All Republicans, whether members of the club or not, are invited to attend the election party, to be held on the evening of the seventh, in the club rooms.

STILL CONFISCATED
ASHLAND, Ky., Oct. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—A 20 gallon copper still, complete in every way, was found on the hill back of Cliffside Park yesterday morning by Chief Gainer and his officers. A woman living in that neighborhood reported the still to the police department and it was promptly confiscated.

Let 'Em Fight
HUNTINGTON, Oct. 4.—Frankie Lucas, Charleston, and Jimmy Blaukschip, Huntington, meet in a ten-round boxing match at Cliffside park, near here, tonight.

DELAWARE—The following students of Ohio Wesleyan University have been honored by receiving Phi Beta Kappa keys. Ruth Bachmayer, Lima; Catherine Ulrich, Dayton; Loree J. Matthews, Greenville; Paul T. Stout, Hebron, and Florence Ruhl, Cortland.

Starting Sunday morning a series of special meetings will be held for one week at Bigelow church, with Rev. George Hugh Birney of Cleveland as the speaker. Dr. Birney is a noted evangelist of the Methodist church and comes to Portsmouth highly recommended as a man who brings soul stirring messages and awakens a new life in his hearers. Some of the largest M. E. pastorates in the northern part of the state have been held by Dr. Birney.

His opening sermon Sunday morning will be on the subject, "The World's Only Portrait of God." Sunday afternoon at three o'clock a special service will be held for women and girls. His subject at this time will be "With Mothers and Daughters In The Chambers of Hierarchy."

For the Sunday night service he will use the subject, "The Trumpet and the Sword."

After serving in the World War where he received a new vision of work he decided to enter the evangelistic field in which he has been very successful.

The public is invited to these services, and packed houses are expected to greet this renowned preacher in Portsmouth.

This week special services of prayer are being held in the homes of the congregation, preparatory to the opening of the revival series.

Long Shot Wins

NEW MARKET, ENGLAND, Oct. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Captain Forester's Light Dragoon at 100 to 1 against won the Cesarewitch stakes handicap of 1000 pounds sterling with extras run here today. A. Deltothchild's the Villager at 40 to 1, was second and Sir A. Bailey's Ceylonese at 10 to 1 was third.

He Must Grow

And a child to grow needs 16 elements, fed in right proportions.

All those 16 elements are in oats.

He needs six minerals which are found in oats.

He needs vitamins, and oats supply them.

That is why oats hold the place they do as food for growing children.

Yet the oat is a most economical food.

A large dish of Mother's Oats costs less than one bite of meat.

Then why not serve the finest oats?

Why not get the flavor which only large, rich grains supply?

Why not insist on Mother's Oats, which are made to delight the child?

Bad Weather No Barrier To Gridders

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—If Big Ten football teams are destined to play in the mud next Saturday the weather thus far this week has given them plenty of opportunity to acclimate themselves to a slippery ball and soggy footing. Downpours failed to stop regular drills during the four part of the week but injuries dampened prospects of some camps more than the weather. This was especially so at Iowa today as the Hawkeyes pulled stakes to entrain for New Haven where Jones meets Jones in the international clash between Iowa and Yale. Saturday, Howard Jones, the Hawkeye coach, may have to revise some of the tactics he has worked out when he sends his eleven against brother Tad Jones' bull dogs next Saturday. John Heldt, star center for Iowa, was suffering from an acute attack of lumbago. Harkin, first string quarterback, has a bad knee and Fullback Locke wrenched his back in scrimmage yesterday. Although Heldt's condition is still serious he will be with the Hawkeyes squad on the trip to Yale but it is doubtful whether he will be able to play.

Autos Collide; Woman Is Injured

CHILLICOTHE, Oct. 4.—A head-on collision of two Ford automobiles at Massville resulted in Mrs. John Temple of Pomeroy, receiving a very bad cut on her right breast, by being thrown through the windshield at one o'clock, Tuesday afternoon. Russell Depew, driving north, attempted to pass a truck coming in the same direction, with the result that he collided with a Ford driven by John Temple, who was going south.

Depew had his wife and small child in the rear of his car, but neither was hurt. The impact was so heavy, however, that Mrs. Temple, who was riding with her husband, was thrown into the windshield. She received several bad cuts, the one in the breast being the most severe.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Miss Dolly Wise—Please tell me how to remove the dark spots caused by rust from a reflector stove. Would enamel burn off? A READER.

Kerosene or benzine are probably the best things known for rust. When articles have become pitted by rust, however, these can, of course, only be removed by mechanical means such as sanding with fine powder, or flint of emery and oil or with very fine emery paper. If the enamel is where it will get hot it will not only burn off but it will cause you out of the house with that "fuming" smell that comes from burning paint and varnish. Some perfume, I'll say.

Dear Dolly—Which is the largest Detroit, Mich. or Cleveland. The population of Detroit is 902,678, while Cleveland is only 706,841.

Dear Dolly—I am 18 and going with a man in fronton who has one child. Would it be all right for me to continue going with him? And Dolly, are braided dresses trimmed in plush being worn now? Also what colors are being worn most? Dolly, will it be all right to wear a sailor suit to a Halloween party?

GREEN HORN.

You are too young to be going with the man who has a child. You are nothing but a child yourself and I would not advise you to take one to raise until you are old enough to assume the responsibilities of raising a family. Tell the man to go back to his first wife. I hope you were not the cause of their parting? Braided dresses are all right, and if you have one wear it, but if you are going to get a new dress, I believe I would get some other material.

What if I were you. There are so many pretty dresses on display in all colors so that you will not have any trouble in selecting one to suit you. The sailor suit will do all right for a Halloween party.

Miss Dolly Wise—What is Hon. Curmi A. Thompson's address, also what date did he make a speech in Portsmouth? THANK YOU.

Carol Thompson's home is in Cleveland, but his present address is care Republican State Executive Committee, Columbus, Ohio. He was in Portsmouth at the Spanish War Veterans' Encampment last June.

Miss Dolly—I want to ask you the question, Is it right for people to sweep the leaves and dirt down in the sewer? Doesn't it stop up the sewers? I have seen people sweep the leaves and dirt in the sewers just after the city cleaned them.

WANT TO KNOW.

The leaves should be swept together and burned or left for the street wagon to come around and gather them up. I don't think any one would knowingly stop up a sewer. The people you saw sweeping their leaves in the sewer probably did not know any better.

Dear Dolly—Will you please tell me where I can go to apply for a job on the N. and W. as a fireman or brakeman? C. M.

Apply at the N. and W. Terminals, East Portsmouth.

W. K.—I do not know of anyone in the city who rents Halloween costumes.

The marriage of Miss Anna E. Coll and Mr. William Schaffer was quietly but beautifully solemnized in Holy Redeemer church this morning at seven o'clock by the pastor, Rev. J. E. McGuirk.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion in palms, ferns and baskets of fall flowers. Previous to the ceremony, the organist, Mr. C. E. Kean, played a number of appropriate airs on the church organ and also during the nuptial low mass following the ceremony.

Promptly at the appointed hour the bridal party entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march. The attendants were the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Coll.

Mrs. Coll wore a handsome suit of mahogany velveteen with trimming of black and a black picture hat to match. A corsage of cream roses gave just the desired finish.

The attractive bride, who entered the church on the arm of the groom, was costumed in a very modish fall suit of chocolate brown velveteen. Her hat was a brown picture model and other accessories were in harmony. She wore a corsage of cream bride's roses.

Immediately after the church service the bridal party proceeded to the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Anna Coll, 1707 Eighth street, where an elaborate course breakfast was served to the immediate families and a few close friends.

The rooms of the Coll home were beautifully decorated with fall flowers and potted plants, and the bride's table was attractively appointed.

Those hidden to the breakfast were Rev. J. E. McGuirk, Mrs. Anna Coll, the bride's mother, Mrs. Conrad Schaffer, of Carnegie, Pennsylvania, mother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Coll and children, Mary and Martha, brother and sister-in-law of the groom, were the only out-of-town relatives at the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil S. Miller have returned from fronton, where they visited their sister, Mrs. J. W. Slater, and also attended the Golden Wedding anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. U. C. Wilson of Los Angeles, Calif., who came to their old home in fronton to celebrate the happy event. Mr. and Mrs. John E. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Miller and sister, Miss Margaret, Miller also attended the big celebration.

Jack knew that it would be useless to argue with this surly fellow, and tried to think of a plan to outwit him. Flip then came running up and Jack thought of a trick.

Jack and Flip had often worked this trick back home. The boy gave Flip the secret signal. Faithful Flip remembered and at once took his place in the back of the wag.

Jack then gave a mighty push. The man went sprawling over the dog's back. The fall partly stunned him and the boy made a rush for his horse.

Quick as a flash, Jack was on his horse and the trio went on the road before the man could sit up again. "Sorry," said Jack, "but we're in a hurry." Continued in next chapter.

VICKS VAPOR

Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly

The Parent-Teachers' Association of the Garfield School met at 3:15 o'clock. The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. C. A. Rowe. She served as president last year and was unanimously re-elected to serve again the coming year.

Vice-President—Mrs. Aaron Clark. Secretary—Mrs. Fred Reinhardt. Treasurer—Mrs. Harry Foster.

Plans for the year's work were outlined and later refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Mrs. W. E. Tripp, 1158 Second street, entertained members of the Women's Home Missionary Society Trinity Church when they met in regular session Tuesday afternoon at her home. Mrs. E. C. Hood, Mrs. W. Donaldson, Mrs. B. F. Hoyce, Mrs. George Irwin, Mrs. J. F. Taylor, Mrs. L. H. Marsi, Mrs. John Oakes, Mrs. W. L. Cressy, Mrs. W. R. Graham and Mrs. Margaret Jaynes were assisting hostesses.

Yesterday's program was in keeping with the study of the colored race, now being made by the society. Mrs. W. W. Robinson favored with some of the old folk songs, "Nelly Gray," "Old Black Joe," and others, while Mrs. James Williams read some of the poems of Paul Dunbar.

Miss Dorothy Smith also gave two readings, while Miss Marcella Tripp rendered several piano selections. Mrs. W. E. Mann had charge of the yearbook reading.

Reports from the missionary home in Columbus in regard to a barrel of canned fruit recently sent by the society was read, the Home extending their appreciation of the gifts.

Report was also made that the amount of money assigned for this district to raise to pay for the auto purchased for Miss Emma Jenkins, the Pike county missionary, had been collected. Tickets were also distributed yesterday for the chicken supper to be given on October twenty-sixth by the society at Trinity Church.

Following the program and business, a social hour and refreshments were enjoyed.

RHEUMATISM

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It

In the year of 1922 I was attacked by Muscular and Sub-Acute Rheumatism. I suffered only only those who are thus afflicted know for over three years. I tried many after remedies, but such relief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally, I found a treatment that cured me completely and such a painful condition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bedridden, some of them seventy to eighty years old, and the results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from any form of muscular, and sub-acute (swelling at the joints) rheumatism, to try the secret value of my improved "Home Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't send a cent simply mail your name and address, and I will send it free to try. After you have used it, and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of getting rid of such forms of rheumatism you may send the price of it. One Dollar, but understand I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. But that fair? Why suffer any longer, when relief is thus offered you free? Write today. Mark H. Jackson 3553 Durston Bldg. Syracuse, N. Y. Mr. Jackson is responsible. Above statement true.

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

NANCY and Nick had almost reached the Fairy Queen's Palace.

They were riding along in the magical automobile on the road to Fairland, as happy as two little robins in a cherry-tree.

Nick was singing a song. It was about his friends, the kind fairies who had helped Nancy and himself on their adventures. He just made it up as he went along. It was about hats, too. This was it: "Oh, Magic Mushroom, he wears a queer hat. Like a door-knob on top, on the bottom it's flat. On the top it's as white as the sun when it's shining. While down underneath is a pink lining."

"Mr. Rubadub wears a high hat like a dunce. He's never without it, you'd know him at once. It's so curious on which made him look knowing. But he says they're to tell him just which way he's going."

"Now Tingating jingles with bells round about. Which shake when he laughs, as he's dreadfully stout. But the thing which makes poor Tingating look so fat is his dear little, queer little, bun of a hat."

"Now Scribble Scratch bothers with no hat at all. When he opens his Meadow-Grove School in the fall. He wears a long forelock which makes him look wise. And a pair of large spectacles over his eyes."

"Down under the sea a wee traffic cop. With a sea-horse beneath him, the ocean atop. Whatever be the weather, bright sunshine or sprinkle. He wears a blue cap, does our dear Polynwinkle."

There was a lot more, but there isn't room to tell you, my dears. (To Be Continued)

MARRIAGE

A LA MODE

A MONG Bulgarian brides the trousseau is most important. A girl is not considered eligible for matrimony until she has a "hope chest" well filled.

All the articles must be hand made and the linens and materials should be hand-woven. There is a superstition against machine work of any sort. It is supposed to bring sorrow.

Eight candidates formed a class that received degree work at the regular meeting of Manila Lodge Daughters of Helekeh last night. The degree staff wore their new uniforms for the first time and made a splendid appearance. The new uniforms have just been received from Columbus. The class included Josephine Crawford, Eunice Schaeffer, Millie Pinson, Clara Marsh, Nellie Wilding, Amelia Collins, Callie McNamer and Edna Bagges.

Plans were laid for a Halloween social that will be held Tuesday night, October 31. A committee consisting of Mrs. Lillian Barlow, Mrs. Mary Doyle and Mrs. Mary Collie was named to perfect all plans for the social.

The Geo. D. Seudder Guild of the First Presbyterian church met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Paul Gable, Eleventh street. This meeting took the form of a sewing party, hemming towels for a worthy object. The Guild made plans for a rummage sale to be held Saturday, November 4th, at the Eleventh Street school building. All the ladies of the church and friends of the Guild are asked to keep this sale in mind and save articles for it. All those desiring to contribute are asked to call 92-L or 330.

At the conclusion of the business session a delicious ice course was served to the following members and guests:

Mrs. David E. Thomas, Mrs. Glenn Edwards, Mrs. J. T. Grady, Mrs. Kaps, Misses Florence and Clara Nunemaker, Avis Smith, Eva Hunt, Anna Louise Robb, Marie Schleicher, Anna Jewett, Bertha Cross, Florence Silt, Josephine Banta, Charlotte Marsh, Edith Canfield and Page Geer.

The next meeting of the Guild will be held on the second Saturday of November at the home of Mrs. J. T. Grady on Offshore street.

Twenty-seven members attended the regular meeting of the Bingham Women's Foreign Missionary Society held yesterday with Mrs. J. B. Mackay, 1314 Ninth street. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. William Nye, Mrs. Carrie Batey, Mrs. Sara Little, Mrs. Earl Pursell, Mrs. James Thompson and Mrs. Ella Yeager.

The meeting opened with prayer offered for the success of the revivals to commence at the church next week. Plans were also made for a joint meeting to be held by members of the Home and Foreign Missionary Societies and Ladies' Aid at the church in December. The members yesterday changed the time of their regular meetings from two to two-fifteen o'clock.

Three new members, Mrs. Chas. Barlow, Mrs. J. W. Dalton and Miss Anna Ball were voted into the society. The following delegates were also elected to represent the society at the district convention to be held October 17th, at Manly Church: Mrs. G. D. Walt, Mrs. Spencer Cole, Mrs. D. A. Berndt, and Mrs. Frank Miller. A social hour and refreshments followed the business.

APPLE FLAN

BY BERTHA E. CHAPLEIGH
Of Columbia University

THE following is a good recipe for using apples, but where fruit may be used. When canned fruit is used the paste is ways baked first and then the fruit is put in and a glaze is made with the syrup and poured over the fruit.

Line a slightly buttered deep pie plate with a good pie paste. Press edges well onto edge of plate and trim evenly.

Place, core and cut in eighths eight well-flavored apples. Cover the bottom of the lined pie plate with any kind of marmalade.

"Fanny" slice the apples over this and sprinkle with one-half cup of sugar mixed with one teaspoon of cinnamon.

Bake in oven 30 minutes. Remove and pour over the apples two tablespoons melted currant jelly.

ANOTHER METHOD

Line the pie plate as before with the paste. Cut apples in eighths and cook half of them in a syrup made with one cup of sugar and one-fourth cup water, boiled one minute.

Add two drops of vanilla extract. Cook the remaining half of apples in cranberry juice sweetened to taste. The cranberries will give a beautiful red color to the apples, as well as a good flavor.

Fill the plate which is lined with paste with paper and bake. Toss the paper and spread the paste with marmalade.

Then arrange the pieces of apple in circles, alternating red and white. Boil the cranberry juice and sugar until it will jelly and pour over apples.

Ashland Reports Success In Recruiting

Since opening up the Navy Recruiting Station at the Post Office Building in Ashland, Kentucky, on August 7, 1922, the officer in charge reports huge success has been met in this district. A total of 160 applicants have been registered, out of which 75 have been accepted and transferred to the main station at Cincinnati, Ohio for final acceptance. This is comparatively high as the average is more than one accepted recruit per day.

Applicants in order to be accepted must be over 18 years of age and be physically qualified as specified by Navy standards. They also must present birth, or baptismal certificates and in lieu thereof, age certificate blanks witnessed by responsible parties.

Recruits from this district are all sent to the Navy Training Station at Hampton Roads, Virginia. The course is three months after which they are allowed furloughs to visit their homes prior to being distributed to the battleship fleet or the various trade schools maintained by the Navy.

The Navy, the so called "School of the Nation" offers splendid opportunities for a young man and is well worth looking into by a young man choosing a career.

NOW DO MY WORKWITHEASE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored My Health

Hornell, N.Y. — "I was in bad health but there didn't seem to be any one thing that was the matter with me. I was tired out all over and it was an effort for me to move. I was irritable and could not sleep nights and had trouble with my bowels and at my periods. It seemed that nearly every one around me knew of my condition and wanted me to try it, so at last I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and improved every day. I do all my own work now except the washing and do it with ease. I can accomplish as much in a day now as it would have taken me a week to do last winter and I try to get every one I know to take your medicine to build them up. FAIRMONT — Alex R. Watson, of this city, has been awarded a verdict of $25,244.27 in the circuit court of Upshur county, in connection with his suit against the Buckhannon River Coal Company, of Adrian, on a breach of contract. The suit was an outgrowth of failure on the part of the defendant company to deliver all of the 50,000 tons of coal under a contract made in 1916.

WELLSBURG — What promises to be one of the greatest legal battles of the century, is under way here in the Brooke county court house. Trials of 250 men, indicted for alleged complicity in the slaying of Sheriff H. H. Durrill, of Brooke county, and seven union miners, are being held. The indicted men are all miners. Seventy-one of them are charged with murder in the first degree.

Slavic National Ills Held Imaginary Third Article--Italy and Austria

By James M. Cox, Ex-Governor of Ohio

ONE of the most hopeful symptoms in the European situation (outside of Russia) has been the quick and effective stamping out of Bolshevism wherever it threatened to be a menace. It has no chance of development in Germany unless there is an economic collapse. In that event, it is idle to speculate on what will happen. Czechoslovakia had a harder tussle with it than Austria. One would have expected quite the reverse. The Hungarian experience is well known. The Social Democrats in Austria are quite radical in their views but they have evidently not been impressed with the Russian experiment.

The most impressive demonstration of an aroused public opinion brings to a discussion of European matters the Fascist organization of Italy. The sober-thinking Italian middle class averted a very serious situation. A well-known writer from Milan in discussing the development of Fascism said: "In Italy our middle classes are historically distinguished by more pronounced and widely diffused idealism than are other classes. They are neither intoxicated with the wine of wealth nor stupefied by the narcotic of want." They include the intellectual groups, and, by the war, the intellectuals of Europe have been most potential in cutting away the moorings of imperialism, militarism and radical conservatism.

In the reaction that followed the war, Italy, particularly in the northern parts, had many more people than she could feed. In the twenty years preceding the war, many families in Italy were supported by members that were laboring in America. The prohibitions imposed by our immigration laws puts a stop to the large flood of common labor and added somewhat to an already perplexing condition in Italy.

The time seemed to be ripe for Bolshevism propaganda. There were evidences of an active movement in many places. Almost overnight a million men seemed to rise out of the earth, giving expression by words, and force where necessary, to the enraged sentiment of the country. Thousands of soldiers who had served during the war were a part of it. Their spirit was militant and their purpose so resolute that the leaders soon realized their mistake.

Numerous Political Groups Bother Italy

The difficulties that have surrounded governmental affairs in Italy seem to have come from the growth of too many political groups. The agrarian bloc, as we call it in America, is in evidence in Italy, too. Existing political units have multiplied and the line of cleavage is so clearly drawn that it has been quite impossible to assemble a legislative majority in support of a concrete policy. It was this condition of affairs which prevented Orlando from forming a ministry when we were in Rome.

Those who have penetrated the inwards of the Italian situation are agreed that the Italians are importing entirely too much of their necessities. The handicap occasioned by the shortage of coal supply could be very much relieved if Italy would address herself seriously to the development of her hydro-electric possibilities. As astute observer, a native of Rome, expressed the opinion that what Italy needs most is a business statesmanship which will appreciate not only the needs of modern agricultural and industrial methods, but the comparative ease with which they can be adopted.

Schanzer, who served as foreign minister, has held the support of many groups. This has an international significance for the reason that he is a close student of world affairs and a strong advocate of the theory of associated movements in behalf of peace.

The most interesting if not the most critical situation in Europe is in Austria. There has been a great deal of criticism over the establishment of new countries out of what was the Austro-Hungarian empire. The first man I met in Vienna was an American who has been in the Austrian capital for several years. In unmeasured terms he denounced the Treaty of Versailles for the frontiers created implying that the succession states should not have been formed. He apparently overlooked the fact that the Bohemians, Hungarians and Serbs had been fretting at the leash for a long time.

Austrian Royalty Helpless In Crisis, Is Report

It is unnecessary to recall the national ambitions which these races held. Enforced measures had developed the seeds of revolution. It might be recited pertinently in this connection that the killing of the Austrian grand duke in Serbia was the match that fired the magazine of war. The remnants of the old Hapsburg regime contend that Franz-Joseph, who was tottering and senile, and his successor, Carl, were both unequal to their tasks.

A story is told in Vienna of the old emperor. War had actually been declared several days before he knew anything about it. One Alphonso, she and her children would be in absolute want. She bitterly reflects upon the contrasting conditions of her life and that of the Kaiser. He is said to be living in comfort and she cannot understand why something is not done for the Hapsburgs.

His Of New States Held Largely Imaginary

Returning to the question of frontiers affecting what is now Austria and the three successor states, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, and Jugoslavia, one frequently encounters the expressed belief that out of the ruins of the war have come more confusion and distress than were witnessed under the old order. The logical response to this is that bad as the situation is now, it would ultimately have been worse if imperialistic rule, secret diplomacy, and recurrent wars of conquest had gone on.

A man who has undergone a major surgical operation ordinarily believes a day or two after it has been performed that the measures of relief are worse than the disease itself. In time he realizes that the germ would have been fatal and that his experience, even though it involves great suffering, brings ultimate recovery. The success of the new order obviously presupposes the recognition of national rights is to be enforced by an insistent world opinion in the future. If this is not to be, then civilization, as we understand it, lacks the potential elements of self-preservation.

The treaty was made by human hands. No one has contended that the work is perfect. The war which had come to an end was not fought by two nations. Elements had entered into it that were based upon the national aspirations of sundry and distinct racial groups all over the continent. The time came when the loose ends of extensive disorganization had to be put together. Authority had to be established and this involved the laying out of frontiers. Czechoslovakia, Roumania and Jugoslavia do not possess homogeneous populations now. It may be that illogical combinations have been made. If that be true, and tranquility is to be prompted by altered boundary lines, the changes must come under the developing processes of peace and justice.

Two questions that persist are first, why so much of Hungary was given to Roumania, and second, why Austria was made a land-locked country while the independent city of Danzig was created in order to give Poland an outlet to the sea. The Hungarians are deeply aggrieved over the loss of population, fertile lands and the rich coal mines in Potoseny and Steterdorf. One is inclined to the thought that it might have been better to have made Trieste an open port under the control of the League of Nations, the same as was done with Danzig.

A double-tracked railroad running from Trieste to Lemberg, now crosses the territory of what is now Jugoslavia, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland. It is one of the most important arteries in Europe and is vital to an economic situation involving many millions of people. Quite obviously economic order is dependent upon harmony between these nations. If they do not recognize the importance of governmental accord, then Trieste may become a commercial morgue.

DELEGATES HOME FROM CONVENTION

The young people of Scioto county are playing a big part in the township and city work of the County Sunday School Association.

Today, as never before, they are taking their rightful place in laying the foundation for the church of the future.

During the past year the young people of our county under the leadership of their conference presidents, Miss Katherine Ridenour, and Donald Oakes, have been doing a great work in organizing the young peoples' classes all over our county, and in helping them solve their problems. A great future is coming.

In order that they might be better prepared to give true aid to the churches of our county a delegation of young people from Portsmouth attended the annual State Young Peoples' Conference at Tiffin, Ohio, from which they have just returned.

This delegation included the following young people of this city: Miss Helen Barklow, Miss Mildred Hughes, Miss Roberta Hennessy, Miss Katherine Ridenour, Donald Oakes, Vaughn Chestnut and Douglas Knowles. Give notice to the young people of Scioto county under this splendid leadership, watch them advance.

The Birth of a Great University

Away back in 1841, three Methodist ministers drove over rough country roads from Urbana, Ohio, to Delaware, Ohio, to look at the grounds and hotel building which the citizens of the latter place had offered the Methodist Church for college purposes.

When the three preachers returned to the seat of the Methodist Conference, only one of them had enough money to pay for the carriage: so Dr. Trimble made the first contribution toward the establishment of a great university by paying the expenses of that historical visit.

This early contribution has been followed by hundreds of other gifts to the University by men and women who are sympathetic toward the great work that Ohio Wesleyan, one of America's leading Christian Colleges, has performed for the State, the Nation, the World; for God and Humanity.

NO DECISION IS REACHED IN CONTROVERSY OVER PAVING

Arguments Pro And Con Made At Open Meeting

Some of the wrinkles in connection with the controversy which has been rising for several days over the proposed improvement of Gallia and Second streets were ironed out at the public meeting called by Mayor William N. Gableman Tuesday night when the Chief Executive stated his position in respect to the project in a clear and comprehensive manner, and then heard others, including several of the property owners on the two streets involved, give their stand on the matter.

The meeting was held at the Chamber of Commerce and more than 100 men interested in the proposed improvement were present, many participating in the discussion and expressing their opinion in no uncertain language.

While little was accomplished in a definite way by the lengthy discussion, yet through the voice of opinions expressed it appears that there is now a better understanding on both sides of the question. Mayor Gableman in his prepared address took a slap at those persons who have been circulating reports about this matter when he declared the reports certainly resulted from a misunderstanding of his position, or a deliberate attempt to discredit the Mayor of the City, which, as a whole is the peer of all others in the matter of fair play, he said.

While the mayor stated that, in his opinion, that the proceedings in connection with the proposed improvement had never reached the point where the contracts could be let legally, yet he asserted that he was ready to go ahead with the improvement if the majority of the property owners were in favor of it and council makes provision for the necessary funds to pay the city's proportion of the estimated cost. The mayor said he would be guided by the opinion of Solicitor Johnson for which he had asked several days ago but had not as yet received it.

The mayor further along in his remarks said, "I resent the action of council in respect to this matter, but it doesn't trouble me and I wish I had vetoed the resolutions declaring the necessity to improve these two streets because the money to pay for the improvement was not provided for." In this connection he took occasion to serve warning that in the future some improvement must be made for financing all improvement projects before he would approve them.

To refute the insinuation that the city is on the verge of bankruptcy, the mayor declared that Portsmouth is one of the few cities in Ohio living within its income and he asserted that the city's finances were in good condition, in fact, better than for years and with no big bond issues to retire for the next four or five years.

The mayor went on record in favor of a permanent improvement on the two streets and gave it as his opinion that action should be postponed until next year, which, he pointed out, would give plenty of time to study the proposition in all its phases. He said, "But, on the other hand, if it is your wish, providing of course, everything is O. K. from a legal standpoint, that Gallia street be resurfaced with asphalt, I am ready to sign the contract to suit you. But I want you to know that I favor a permanent improvement on Gallia street, whether it be brick or asphalt, for we must look to the City Engineer for advice in matters of this kind. At the time these petitions came before council the Engineer told me he would not O. K. any improvement on Gallia street that did not call for a new foundation."

These besides Mayor Gableman that participated in the discussion and gave their views on the subject, included Arthur H. Bannan, George D. Selby, Simon Labold, Joseph T. Micklethwait, L. P. Haldeman, W. W. Bauer, John A. Grimes, Judge George M. Osborn and Charles C. Horner, members of council, and Charles Spindler of Hamilton, representative of the Andrews Asphalt Paving company, low bidders on the contract for resurfacing with sheet asphalt.

Mayor Gableman in opening the meeting asked that he not be interrupted during the reading of his prepared statement and that he would be glad to answer any question after he concluded. He then read the statement defining his position, asserting that all he wanted was to lay all the facts before the property owners as he wanted them to know they could get a brick street if they wanted it. He said:

"At the outset I want it thoroughly understood that no one regrets more than myself that the matter of resurfacing Gallia and Second streets has caused the commotion it has in the community.

"Should the property owners on these two streets, so badly in need of permanent repair make similar requests they too are entitled to similar consideration and should they receive favorable consideration, street resurfacing or repaving would have right of way over everything else. This would result in additional burdens to the taxpayers or other improvements so badly needed would be forced to wait.

"The petitions of the property owners residing on Second — Chillicothe to Waller, and Gallia — Chillicothe to Waller requested these streets be resurfaced with asphalt. Council cannot under the law pass a resolution and include in same a certain kind of material to be used. An explanation of the wisdom of this law is unnecessary. Council passed a resolution declaring it necessary to improve the streets, no law was served, the ordinance directing to proceed was duly passed and the advertisement for bids followed. In the meantime I had no idea that the time necessary for all this legislation had expired as I was under the impression that the time required to complete this legislation would run too late into this fall to do the work yet this year. This would, I figured, give us ample time to study the proposition of improvement of the streets in all its phases and providing a decision was reached this work would be started early next year.

"And right here let me say that I do not intend to be stampeded to a hasty judgment either by hot-headed property sharks or those guided by petty personal or partisan spites. It is easy to get positions signed—often by persons who afterwards acknowledge that they acted hastily upon someone else's judgment and to their subsequent damage.

"You interested property owners are entitled to an explanation of my position as the citizens of the city as a whole, for this is a proposition that involves us all. And if this explanation does not satisfy you—then you can at least consider same as apology, for if I have erred in this matter, I am seeking the earliest opportunity to make amends.

"Resurfacing of streets is new in Portsmouth. We know that many of our streets, namely, Chillicothe, Second and Gallia clear through and especially Eleventh need to be looked after as early and as speedily as possible.

"The city's obligation to these improvements is fifty per cent of the total cost plus the cost of intersections. The streets I named were paved years ago and have long since outlived the life that was originally intended for them when they were improved. In the meantime there has been a wonderful advancement in the method of permanent street improvement to the end, in this day that when these streets, improved, some of them, as long as thirty years ago came up again for consideration we have the benefit of this advancement.

"There are at least three propositions to be considered in our street resurfacing program—

"First—The question of finance. Second—The kind of material. Third—Whether or not when the improvement is made the question of future maintenance receives first consideration. That is to say, whether the improvement be of a permanent nature or whether it be for a limited time only.

"If we are to adopt a resurfacing program and give all property owners abutting on the streets that I have here before me an estimate of the city's obligations involved, based upon the bids we received on the eight squares of paving in Gallia and Second streets, would be upwards of $250,000.00. In these two short parts of Gallia and Second streets, the city's obligation is around $15,000.00 if the streets are resurfaced with asphalt and $22,000.00 if same are to be repaved, as, it stated before the city share is fifty percent of the total cost plus the cost of intersections.

"During this year, the argument against the city hospital addition who were of the opinion that the bonded indebtedness of the city should not be increased for this purpose. My position in that matter was that the addition of the city hospital would result in sufficient increased income to pay this indebtedness as the bonds mature.

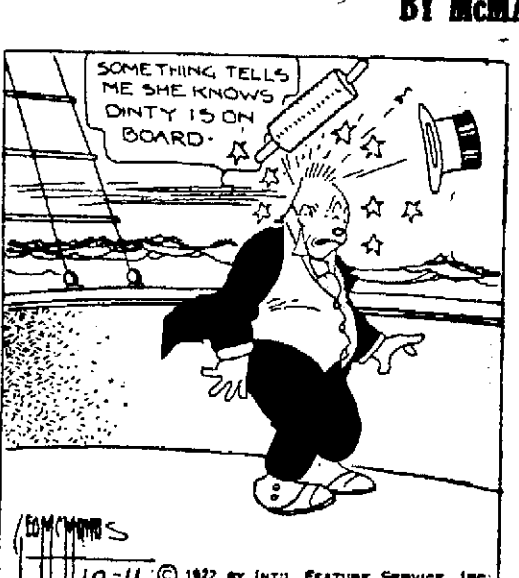

"Another argument was that our sewer program should have the right of way, as this involved the expenditure of $300,000.00. We must have at the earliest moment a garbage disposal plant, for right now we are up against it in the matter of having sufficient dumps. We could not afford a Detention Home, our excuse being the lack of finances. The folks up Mahert Road who are anxious and willing for a permanent improvement in which only two percent of the cost is the city's share have waited in vain for the past two years for relief, for in winter their thoroughfare is well nigh impassable. But here comes a street improvement, as I stated, involving at least $20,000.00 for the city and not a word about financing same.

"Should the property owners on these two streets, so badly in need of permanent repair make similar requests they too are entitled to similar consideration and should they receive favorable consideration, street resurfacing or repaving would have right of way over everything else. This would result in additional burdens to the taxpayers or other improvements so badly needed would be forced to wait.

"The petitions of the property owners residing on Second — Chillicothe to Waller, and Gallia — Chillicothe to Waller requested these streets be resurfaced with asphalt. Council cannot under the law pass a resolution and include in same a certain kind of material to be used. An explanation of the wisdom of this law is unnecessary. This would, I figured, give us ample time to study the proposition of improvement of the streets in all its phases and providing a decision was reached this work would be started early next year.

"When the bidding sheets were prepared by the City Engineer, bids were requested for asphalt only, notwithstanding that all the legislation included the various kinds of material as required by law. A local brick representative came to me with an objection to this, and I investigated the matter. I was convinced that their point was well taken, and I told them to submit any proposition they had on the bidding sheets and same of course would receive consideration.

"Two bids were received for asphalt resurfacing and a like number of bids for repaving. The Andrews Asphalt Paving Company were low on resurfacing with asphalt and The S. Monroe & Sons Company low on repaving with brick. Naturally my first interest is that of the city. After conferring with representatives of the asphalt and brick people, and many local citizens, I requested the brick representatives to submit their proposition on a foot front basis, so that both the property owners and myself could get a more intelligent idea of their propositions. They did this and I have same. In this statement they also made up a statement of the asphalt bid.

"They contended that the cost of asphalt would be $1,831.40. This included $17,151.40, the original bid of the Andrews Company for 1 1/2 inches of binder, and 1 1/2 inches in wearing surface, and $4,080.00 for asphalt that would be needed in places on Gallia street where more than three inches would be required. This would make the cost per front foot $2.25 to the property owner and $2.25 to the city.

"The S. Monroe & Sons bid on proposition calls for a six inch concrete base, cement curb and gutter and cement filler is $25,390.00, or $2.71 per front foot for the property owner and $2.71 per front foot cost to the city. Using asphalt filler—0.8c additional is asked per front foot which would make the cost per front foot for both city and property owner $2.79. This amount after allowing 20c per square yard for the old brick.

"At the first opportunity I gave this statement submitted by the brick people to the representative of the asphalt company and asked him to go over same and submit a similar statement on asphalt.

"I might say here that I was under the impression without making any investigation that the report submitted by the brick people at $2.25 for asphalt resurfacing and $2.70 for repaving was a total cost instead of the cost to the property owner and to the city. It was not until I received the statement from the representative of the Andrews company made up similar to that of the brick statement that I learned my error, as the representative of the asphalt company called my attention to same.

"The representative of the Andrews company stated that the addition of $4,080.00 to their bid for extra asphalt was incorrect and that they were willing to enter into an agreement with the city that no extra charge for additional asphalt would be made. So then, their bid for 9,300 fronting feet of resurfacing would stand and the cost would be $3.90 per running foot — $1.83 per front foot property owner's share, and $1.83 city's share. The Andrews company's statement showed that the brick repaving cost was $3.98 per running foot, $2.00 for property owner and $2.00 for city. I thereupon gave the Andrews statement to the brick representative and requested an explanation for the difference between $2.90 for the brick on the Andrews statement, and $2.70 on their own statement.

"It was found that the allowance for old brick of 20c per square yard was not included. The cost per square yard of paving or resurfacing on a 36 foot street is equivalent to one front foot, as there are four square yards of paving to each front foot. The allowance for old brick is 40c per running foot on each side. Deducting this from $5.98 leaves a net cost for repaving $5.58 or $2.79 to the property owner and the same amount to the city as shown on the brick statement."

"The representatives of both the brick and asphalt companies agreed that the total cost of the improvement if resurfaced with asphalt will be $17,151.40 and $26,914.40 if repaved with brick. This means a cost to the city of $8,575.70 for asphalt and $13,457.20 if repaved on a fifty-fifty basis only.

"After I received these statements I asked the City Solicitor whether or not the city's obligations involved only 50 per cent of the total cost or 50 per cent of the total cost plus the cost of intersections. He replied verbally that his opinion is that the city's obligation is 50 per cent. My opinion is after consulting with other legal authority that the city pays in addition to 50 per cent the cost of the intersections. I requested an opinion from him in writing, whether or not we could even consider The S. Monroe and Sons Company bid for brick repaving. I have not as yet received his written opinion in reply to this inquiry. Here are two important legal points, and

I figured that it was up to me to find out where we stood legally on all the legislation.

"True, I was out of the city a few days, but during my absence the whole legal proposition involved in the matter of street improvement was investigated in a thorough manner, and this investigation was not fully completed until late Saturday, so if I had been here a contractor would not have been let for we are not even now in shape legally to let a contract for this work.

"Before I received these statements of either the brick or asphalt interests I received a visit from Councilman Horner and he presented me with a petition signed, as he stated, by some 90 per cent of the property owners on Gallia street. I will read the title of this petition. When he presented this to me he stated that I dare not postpone the letting of this contract until after the election, and that I dare not use anything but asphalt on Gallia street. He stated that the property owners on Gallia street would have nothing else regardless of price. This coming from a member of Council, you can well imagine my feeling in the matter. I know the law on this proposition also. I will say to the credit on Mr. Horner that he was very much excited and before he left me he did make a half-hearted apology.

"Mr. Horner was interested in the Jackson street improvement and signed the petition that this street be paved with asphalt, but after he came to me and stated that while he was very much interested in the Jackson street improvement owing to the location of his property interests in that locality and would like an asphalt street, he did not care particularly what material was used, as he wanted the improvement to proceed as speedily as possible.

"As soon as I received the detailed statement of the brick proposition, I did discuss this with several property owners on Gallia street, all of whose names appear on this petition, with the exception of one. I satisfied myself from these conferences that the property owners who signed this petition did not have all the facts. Isn't it strange what peculiar construction can be placed on a statement. When Mr. Horner brought up the matter in Council I stated that those property owners who signed that petition did not know what they were signing, and I repeat that statement. It is the strange part of the thing that they signed this petition at the time they did, taking all things into consideration, when myself, or none else for that matter, had a thorough understanding of the proposition until after I had received the petition from Mr. Horner.

"It was my intention that as soon as I received the opinion of the Solicitor to call a meeting of the interested property owners and discuss this matter with them. I also intended to have a discussion with the members of the Council as a committee of the whole. But observe what happened in the meantime. We find some talking about the Mayor selling brick on Gallia street, trying to ram brick down the throats of property owners and inferences in the Council chamber that things were not right in the front end of the City Hall.

"You folks here stood for that sort of procedure in years gone by, and it is even difficult now for some of these interests after almost three years to get accustomed to the new order of things. Those of you who are informed on such matters know full well that bids are based on the estimates of the Engineer, approved by Council—that the Board of Control has the legal right, if it so desires, to select what is deemed the best bid and the right also to reject all bids.

"What do we find after an investigation of contracts during almost a three year period? We have awarded contract after contract, not hundreds, but thousands of dollars under the estimates of the engineer, and these same estimates were approved by Council. If these contracts had been let close to his estimates, approved by Council, and one contractor was getting this job, and another that one, with but little difference in their bids, it would be high time to cease public work until a thorough investigation was made. Jackson street, awarded thousands of dollars under the engineer's estimates, approved by Council. What was to hinder these contractors, if they so desired to get together and grab off the difference? One local contracting firm has secured practically every contract for street improvements during my administration, and make an investigation, if you will, and you will find a vast difference between the engineer's estimates, approved by Council, and the prices at which the contracts were awarded. Money saved for both the city and property owners.

"The talk about a fight between the brick and other paving interests being responsible for low prices—I want official credit for part of this and I want this administration to have the balance. It is not a fight between these interests. It is the result of a square, open-book methods and honest competitive bidding at the City Hall. Why do you say, you that favor asphalt, that brick prices, submitted for Gallia and Second streets, are ridiculously low, and those of you who favor brick, why do you say that prices for asphalt on Second and Gallia streets are ridiculously low? If this be true, why do some of you try to insinuate that all is not square at the City Hall, when you know in your hearts that the Board of Control has absolute power in choosing the material and awarding the contract when the prices of both material used in these proposed improvements are ridiculously low? If I were controlled by either of these interests, this matter would not be up for discussion at this time for all details would have been worked out beforehand and prices in that event would have been ridiculously high.

"Property owners say to me: Why don't you let contracts for concrete in your alley improvements instead of brick? For the simple reason that brick has been the cheapest in every case, and to my mind the best, although if bids on concrete were cheaper, we would use concrete. For I am satisfied concrete would answer as well.

"Let us get back to Gallia street. As the matter now stands I know the city will pay 50 per cent of the total cost of this proposed improvement plus the cost of intersections. The Federal Government does not pay street assessments. The city will pay for the north side of the street south of the Esplanade and the south side of the street on the north side of the Esplanade for its full length. When there is the frontage at the High School. The city's obligation in this improvement will therefore be entirely out of proportion to the property owners' share. Some folks think even now that this legislation calls for an improvement from The Security Bank alley to Waller street for these people have in mind the improvement made recently around the Esplanade. Examine Gallia street from Chillicothe to the end of the Esplanade, repaved under the Town administration and you will agree with me that it will be a crime to spend hundreds of dollars of the taxpayers' money there. This is one of the best paving jobs in the city, and will stand for years to come without any cost for maintenance.

"Since this matter came up, I have been in conference with prominent citizens and taxpayers in whom I have confidence regarding the advisability of resurfacing Gallia street, as compared with a permanent improvement. Almost without exception all are of the opinion that Gallia street should have a permanent improvement. Some think nothing should be done at all this fall on account of the inconvenience that same would cause at this time of the year. Others suggest narrower sidewalks, which would mean a wider street. It is the opinion of others that service mains should be extended and improved at the same time this work is done.

"But in any event, we have in the last analysis providing either of the proposed improvements is made, and everything up until now, as regarding the legislation for same has been logically done, the choice of resurfacing with asphalt at $1.83 per foot or repaving at $2.79 per foot, a difference per foot to the property owner of 94c. If you are the owner of 50 feet of property on this street you can pay $47.00 more or less, becoming larger each year, that some way can be found to use at least a part of this money in propositions of this kind.

"My opinion is that we should postpone these improvements until next year, which would give us the winter to study this proposition. But, on the other hand, if it is your wish, providing of course everything is O. K. from a legal standpoint that Gallia street be resurfaced with asphalt, I am ready to let this contract to suit you. But I want you to know that I favor a permanent improvement on Gallia street, if the improvement is to be done at this time, whether it be asphalt or brick. For we must look to the City Engineer for advice in matters of this kind. At the time these petitions came before Council the Engineer told me that he would not O. K. any improvement on Gallia street that did not call for a new foundation.

"After the mayor concluded there followed a long silence, but finally Arthur H. Bannan arose and addressed the mayor thusly: 'I have no brick, asphalt or other paving material to sell and I'm not looking for votes. I have got two pieces of property on Gallia street and as a property owner am anxious to see asphalt laid on the street. You have a bid for the improvement of the street which just suits me as I believe sheet asphalt will make a good street. The asphalt firm is here ready to take the work and take all chances on the legality of the matter and let the property owners be willing to pay the bill."

Concluding Mr. Bannan said: "The persons who signed this petition are entitled to a great deal of consideration as they will bear a big part of the expense involved, directly and indirectly, as most of them are big taxpayers and the improvement of this street at once is of important concern to them. We want to save money and referring to the claim that nearby cities were using Portsmouth made brick to pave their streets he stated that if we were in Jackson we could get brick cheaper than we can here.

Mr. Bannan then exhibited a written opinion furnished the Andrews Asphalt company by their attorneys on the strength of which the concern he said, were willing to take a chance on the 50-50 division of the cost of the improvement and go ahead with the work. At this juncture Mayor Gableman produced an opinion which conflicted with the other one on the score of the division of the cost, his ruling contending that the city share would be fifty per cent plus the street and alley intersections.

When urged by Mr. Bannan to name the attorney who wrote the opinion, the mayor replied, "It's mine," adding, "don't try to kid me, I've been kidded by experts."

Addressing the mayor again, Mr. Bannan said further: "Council felt by its action that you needed a tracer, Mayor, and that you needed some place in your campaign for congress to 'wash your hands' of this matter. They passed the resolution urging you to proceed at once with the improvement and you promised to respect their desire. Now we ask you to keep that promise.

The mayor resented the attempt of Mr. Bannan to inject politics into the controversy and the two indulged in some sharp repartee over the incident. The mayor then inquired, "what is council and the city going to do when other streets want to be improved, and they haven't the money to do it with, besides, he said, this proceeding was not started in keeping with a fixed rule of council which requires all petitions seeking improvements to be filed in the fall or winter before the proposed improvement is to be made in order that the council may be put through and the work started early in the spring. The mayor further asserted that he did not see the necessity for all this hurry to pave Gallia street this fall but Mr. Bannan allowed it was important for the merchants on the street to get the benefit of the improvement for the holiday trade. To this the mayor retorted, "if you think it so important why don't you pay the whole cost and relieve the city of its share?"

Mr. Bannan then assumed the chair and called upon others to state their views, and J. A. Grimes was the first to be recognized by the chairman. Addressing the mayor Mr. Grimes said: "You say that you didn't know of the plans of the improvement? I am certain that you did know three or four months ago when I started the circulation of the petition for the improvement of Second street and you promised to give the people what they wanted. Why did you do that?" he asked and the mayor replied that he still stood by what he had said.

Mr. Spindler, representative of the Andrews Asphalt Paving company, was the next speaker and he said, "The mayor must look to the city solicitor for legal advice in awarding contracts and your city solicitor has not in this instance given an opinion as yet, however, I had a talk with Solicitor Johnson today and he fully concurs in the opinion given by our lawyers. Our company is entirely satisfied to enter into the contract at its own peril and complete the work by December 1. We stand to lose if the award is not legal and we don't get our money. Something has been said about Christmas and in this connection will say that the city stands to get the two streets improved as a Christmas gift if the contract is not legal. We regret the misunderstanding which has grown out of this matter but we are willing to take chances and start the work next week. We promise not to tear up more than one block at a time so as not to interfere with traffic more than is necessary. Resurfacing of old brick paving is not a new thing and we are satisfied we can resurface Gallia street successfully and will back up our guarantee with a bond that the street will be in good condition at the end of five years. As to the foundation that is a matter of opinion of engineers—one may say one thing and one the opposite. There will be no extra charges for extra binder and it doesn't seem necessary to resurface the Gallia esplanade, in which event, you may increase or diminish the contract.

J. T. Micklethwait pointed out that Portsmouth was a brick town and declared that the big issue, the matter of improving all the streets of the city, was being overlooked. He said, "we ought to be proud of Portsmouth brick and urged a continuance of the policy of using home-made brick and of patronizing home industry. Like the mayor, he suggested that if the Gallia street property owners wanted to give asphalt a trial to pay the entire cost of the experiment themselves.

W. W. Bauer proposed to allow the property owners present to settle the matter with a rising vote but his plan was not accepted because, it was explained, that over ninety per cent of the property owners had signed the petition for the improvement.

L. P. Haldeman said he was not a signer of the petition but that he wanted to go on record in favor of a permanent improvement, declaring that Gallia street was the main east and west artery of Portsmouth and that the traffic must necessarily be heavy. He said that in his opinion it would be folly to make any improvement other than permanent and that he favored building new things rather than patch up old. He urged a solid foundation and repaving with brick.

George D. Selby stated he was in a peculiar position, stating that the brick men were his friends, at least, he hoped so, and that he approved the claim that good brick when put down properly makes a splendid street. He believed if we were going to construct a new street we ought to use brick, but we want a road surface. He then told of traveling over many roads in his travels where asphalt was used, especially in California, with great success and he pointed to the great amount of asphalt paving in Columbus.

Judge Osborn said that he had never at any time expressed a preference for any kind of paving, declaring that he had always held that to be a province of the Board of Control but he had always opposed limiting the bidding on city paving contracts to one material or other words, "I have always insisted on competitive bidding," he said. Some stress has been laid here on the fact that 94 per cent of the property owners on Gallia street are demanding asphalt resurfacing. They are only a small fraction of one per cent of the entire property owners of the city and I am not in council to represent the property owners on eight squares, but all the property owners. The big taxpayers are the ones having homes worth $5000 with a mortgage of $2500 on them. It is immaterial to me whether asphalt, brick or other material is used but if we give every petitioner what he wants we will have an orgy of bond issues.

Simon Labold stated he had not seen the petition or even been approached concerning the proposed Gallia street improvement. As far as the Carlisle-Labold company is concerned it ceased making paving brick some time ago and now manufactures nothing but building brick. I am for brick paving, however, and all ought to stand up for home products.

At this juncture Councilman Horner explained that the reason he did not present the petition to Mr. Labold was that they had always been friends and that he did not want to embarrass him by having him refuse to sign it.

The mayor read a communication from The Portsmouth Supply company giving expression to opposition to any form of improvement on Gallia street, other than a concrete base, with a brick top or its equal. The writer also sounded the slogan to pull for Portsmouth and use home-made products.

Crack Golfers To Tour South

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Gene Sarazen, national open and professional golf champion who is recuperating from an operation for appendicitis at a Yonkers hospital, will tour the southern states and the Pacific coast this winter with Jack Huchelson, former British champion. It was learned today. The pair also contemplate entering the British open championship next spring.

Sarazen's room at the hospital is heated high with flowers sent by admirers from many sections of the country. He also has received many messages from golf enthusiasts expressing hope for his complete recovery.

Sarazen is spending much time reading nautical books. He plans to purchase a small craft just to cruise around in.

Play Athens Oct. 21

The Huntington Herald-Dispatch says:

The Red and Blue of Huntington high are daily preparing for their third game of the season, that will be played at Marshall Field Saturday.

Wooley, star halfback, and captain of the local team, was injured three weeks ago, suffering a wrenched knee. The knee has been in a cast until recently when it was removed and he is reported getting along fine. It is almost sure that he will get in the game with Athens high at Athens, Ohio, October 21.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Renewal of the heavy buying of oil shares gave a strong tone to the opening of today's stock market. Steels, equipments, rails and public utilities all made moderate gains. One thousand shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey sold at the opening between 230 and 235 and the stock then advanced to 240 as compared with a close of 233 yesterday. Mexican Petroleum shot up to 202½ or within two points of the year's high, on a net gain of nearly 9 points. Pan American A and B, established new peak prices on gains of more than five points each. Standard Oil of California improved 1½ and most of the other oils advanced fractionally. Gains of ½ to 1½ were registered by American Locomotive, common and preferred, Baldwin, U. S. Steel, Crucible and Gulf States Steels. American Can moved up 4 points to a new peak price and Consolidated Gas rose 1½. The advance in rails was led by Lackawanna up 1½. International Combustion up 2½ and National Biscuit up 3½ were other individual strong spots. Weakness was noted in DuPont Chemical off 2½ and American Sugar off ½.

Initial strength of high priced oils was followed by a period of profit taking which carried the market from 3 to 5 points below their early high. This temporarily unsettled the rest of the list, reactions of a point or more taking place in Crucible and Gulf States Steels, Studebaker, American Locomotive, Baldwin, American Sausaging and Corn Products. The latest supporting influence was provided by a broad demand for railroad shares. Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Chicago Northwestern, Norfolk and Western, Reading, New York Central, Lehigh Valley, Atchafalpa, Atlantic Coast Line, Southern Pacific, Central Steel has passed 40, after the reaction to 35. We believe it may reach 60 before the end of the year with a continuation of the present earnings, which are reported to be at the rate of $15 per share per year. Recent developments in Cleveland Discount may make it advisable for you to keep in touch with us regarding information as to market changes on the preferred and common, and bond issues. We can sell many issues financed by the R. L. Dillings Co. at prices to net incomes from 8% to 10%. We also specialize in all Geiger-Jones issues.

Chicago Grain And Provision

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Although the armistice acceptance by the Turks led to a moderate downturn in the value of wheat today during the early dealings, selling lacked volume and the market soon rallied to well above yesterday's finish. It was said that seaboard competition for quick shipments was a factor in giving strength to prices. An advance in the corn market helped also to lift wheat. The opening which varied from ¼ to ½ lower, with Dec. 1.07½ to 1.07½ and May 1.08½ to 1.08½, was followed by a period of wavering and then by gains all around. Aggressive buying of corn on the part of one of the larger houses turned corn and oats upward after a weak start. Corn opened ¼ to ½ lower, Dec. 61½ to 62 and later scored material gains. The close was unsettled ¼ to 1½ net higher with Dec. 1.08½ to 1.08½ and May 1.10½ to 1.10½.

Initial prices for oats were ¼ off to a shade higher, Dec. 38½ to 39 and later were on the upgrade for all deliveries. Lower quotations on hogs weakened the provision market. The close was steady at ¾ to ¾ net advance with Dec. 62½ to 63½ and May 64½ to 65½.

Business Booming Along B. & O.

The Wellston Sentinel says:

Business has improved so much at the local B. & O. terminal that more men are required so there may be prompter engine handling and train service which dependence on shop service elsewhere will not permit. These men, it is said, will be supplied with sufficient tools and materials to make repairs and adjustments formerly made at this point.

It means that there will be a restoration of the old terminal facilities that formerly existed at this place. It may not be installed in full forthwith, but it is believed in certain quarters that it is only a matter of brief time when the same will be done because of the unprecedented come-back of business at this point on the line.

Business on the Portsmouth branch has advanced by bounds because of the fact that practically all the plants along that line are in operation or soon will be. The furnaces at Jackson, one of which has already resumed, will soon be going on full time as well as other plants in that city. It is also expected that the big twin of the Wellston Furnace Company, the only local plant idle, will also be put in blast at an early date. The resumption of these manufacturing and the opening of the mines has made necessary some preparation on the part of the railway companies to care for the business which is created with dispatch, therefore it is deemed necessary to have available B. & O. shop service which can only mean restoration of the local terminal facilities that were removed to Chillicothe some time since.

OBITUARY

Theodore Burtrum

After a trying illness extending over a period of five months and one that baffled the skill of some of the best physicians of the city, Theodore Burtrum of 1014 Scott street passed away Tuesday night shortly after eleven o'clock.

A veteran of the world war, he had done his "bit" overseas and in serving his country "over there," it is thought he contracted the disease which resulted in his death last night. Theodore, who was 30 years of age, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. (Dick) Burtrum 3174 Walnut street, East Portsmouth, who together with seven brothers and sisters, Mrs. Genevieve Gordon of Cleveland, Harry of Marion, Mrs. Currie Crosser of Cincinnati, Mrs. Irma Bennett, Forest, Nile and Raymond at home, survive. He also leaves a wife, Mrs. Flo Blair Burtrum, and two children, Norma Lee and Hobbie, both very young, and a host of other relatives and friends.

For a number of years, Theodore had been a valued employee of the Selby Shoe company, and was always prominent in the recreations and sports of the employees, which made him a favorite of many and a friend to all. The employees of his department of the big factory have been keeping in touch with his condition and are among the first to extend their sympathy to the bereaved family.

He was a member of First Christian church and Bible school, and until recently made it a point to be at the regular services of the church. A member of the Loyal Men's class he was always interested in their activities, and while he made friends slowly he held them firmly and he will long be remembered by those who knew him.

Funeral services will be held from the First Christian church Friday afternoon at two o'clock with Rev. Gerald Gullerson, pastor of the church, in charge.

Rhoda Talbert

Rhoda Talbert was born near Circleville, Ohio, Sept. 18, 1885. She united with the M. E. Church in Ross county in 1943, and was converted early in life, and lived a clean, consistent Christian. She was united in marriage to Charles Elmore, March 2, 1890, and to this union were born six children: John, Charles, James, Nanna, Oscar and Homer, the latter having preceded her in death, as also did Mr. Elmore.

On November 17, 1921 she united in marriage with S. C. Robinson, and to this union came two children, Stanley C. and May.

She leaves 7 children, 31 grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren and a host of loving friends. She lived a most unselfish Christian life, always thinking of her children and friends, and was devoted in a special way to her blind son, James, who was her constant companion. Many will rise in that last day and call her blessed.

Burial was made at the Upper Rocky (Berea) M. E. church, Rev. C. T. Grant, of Otway officiating.

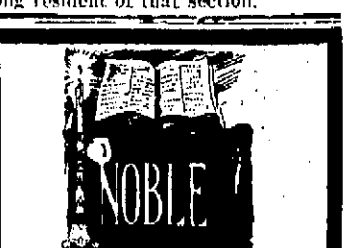

Edward Jenner, who introduced smallpox vaccination, was a poet of merit.

Your Tribute To The Deceased

Your tribute to the deceased should be one that you can pleasantly remember and one that will cause you no regrets. Our increasing business pays a tribute to our satisfactory service.

be known that you find relief from such distress by simply chewing one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals. A host of people have gone back to fried eggs and bacon, sausage, doughnuts, baked beans, pie and cheese, steak and onions, cucumbers, cream with coffee and so on because they discovered that after eating such things, a Stuart's Dyspepsia
Tablet gave the stomach a sweetened alkaline effect and there was no sourness, acid, gassy heartburn, belching, pressure and such distress due to indigestion after eating. It is well to take notice of this and to get a 60 cent box of Stuart's Dys-

Gets Coal Blanks

Manager W. S. Harris of the Chamber of Commerce received word today from Clarence J. Neal, Ohio Fuel Administrator, a supply of forms that will be necessary for jobbers, brokers and wheelers of coal. These forms are designated as "Jobbers' and Brokers' Daily Report of Sales and Cost of Sales." Local coal dealers may call at the Chamber of Commerce for these blank forms. Forms may also be secured direct from the Fuel Administrator's office at Columbus. By sending the blanks to one point in a district the Fuel Administrator expects to cover the field with the least possible delay.

Muscles Injured

John Scammyson of 824 Eleventh street is suffering with torn muscles in his right elbow. Three weeks ago while out hunting, the gun he was carrying was accidentally discharged and it "kicked" him on the elbow. At the time he did not pay any attention to the injury but several days ago the elbow started paining him and he had an X-ray taken, which showed his muscles to be injured.

Why You Need a Tonic in the Fall

Take Father John's Medicine

During the summer months many people do not eat the nourishing foods which their system requires, and with the increase of activities in the fall they are using up more tissue than the food which they eat replaces, so that they quickly get thin and run down and find that they get tired easily on catch cold frequently. This means that they must have a food medicine to rebuild their exhausted strength and energy. The logical food tonic for just this condition is Father John's Medicine which is based upon a number of food elements which have been accepted by doctors for many years as those best suited to rebuilding strength and health. These are so prepared that the system quickly takes them up and turns them into new tissue, new energy, flesh and strength. This is why Father John's Medicine is known as the greatest body builder and has had a history of more than sixty years success in the treatment of colds, coughs and similar ills. It is guaranteed free from all of the dangerous drugs in any form.—Advertisement

GLASSES BROKEN; LOSES SIGHT OF ONE EYE; MAY SAVE OTHER EYE

Frank Schmidt, chemist at the Selby shoe factory, suffered the loss of his left eye and seriously injured the right in an accident at the factory about 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Schmidt, who has charge of the cement, uses a small truck to haul cement from the cement house on Findlay street to the factory. Late yesterday afternoon he started to make repairs to the truck and while driving a nail hit it a glanc- ing blow causing the nail to fly back and strike his eye glasses, the broken bits of glass cutting the eye ball of his left eye. The sight was entirely destroyed and it will take special treatment to save the sight of the right eye. Dr. George B. Brown is attend- ing Mr. Schmidt who resides at 816 Washington street. Mr. Schmidt is very active in Portsmouth Council Jr. O. U. A. M. and is well known in and about the city. His many friends will be sorry to learn of the injury he has suffered. The in- jury is causing him considerable pain.

GOOD LOOKS GOOD HEALTH

WENDELL'S SALTS, AMBITION BRAND—that's the answer. Some of you ladies who read this may have complexion disfigured by liver spots and discolorations. If this is the case, don't worry about it and don't use face lotions. Just go to once to Wurster Bros. and get a large bottle of WENDELL'S SALTS, AMBITION BRAND, for only sixty cents. It will clear your complexion by helping to drive from your system the poisonous uric acid that is affect- ing your liver, stomach and kidneys. A poor, rough, mottled skin isn't due to the sun or weather, but to an up- set condition which uric acid usually causes. Go to the root of the trouble. Destroy that and your good looks and health will return.

WENDELL'S SALTS, AMBITION BRAND, is a wonderful preparation for indigestion, biliousness, constipa- tion, headache, rheumatism, malar- ia, nervousness, kidney troubles—when caused by uric acid poison.

Remember WENDELL'S SALTS, AMBITION BRAND, is guaranteed by Wurster Bros. and dealers every- where.

It is pleasant to take, acts quickly, and you can get your money back on the first bottle purchased if dissatis- fied.—Advertisement

Jones Confesses He Set Fire To Pike County Barn

Waverly, Ohio, Oct. 11.—Stephen Jones, held in jail here for several days in connection with the mysterious burning of the large hay barn at the Pike County Poor Farm on the night of Sept. 29, has con- fessed to having set fire to the barn which resulted in the complete loss of the barn and its contents of hay and tobacco. The confession was wrung from Jones while he was being examined for insanity in the of- fice of Probate Judge H. H. Reisinger. Doctors O. C. Andre and L. E. Willis, who made the examina- tion judge him to be sane. Jones was an inmate of the In- firmity, but after having trouble with other inmates and the Super- intendent, Floyd French, Jones left the place. That night the barn burned. Jones is alleged to have at- tacked another inmate with a knife. He also caused Supt. French consid- erable trouble and when Jones rushed to strike him one day French grabbed him by the wrist and gave it a severe twist. When asked why he set the barn afire Jones said he exhibited his wrist which looked red and had a scratch on it. "Well, who wouldn't, just look at that!" Following the confession Jones was taken before Justice T. A. Brown and charged with arson. He entered a plea of guilty and was bound over to the grand jury, as the law provides in this case that he must be indicted before he can be sentenced. Jones, who is now re- siding in the county jail, is an old man of probably sixty, and has a criminal record. At one time he was sent to the Ohio Penitentiary for seven years for burglarizing Dewey's store at Jasper. At another time he was sent up from Scioto county for one year for theft. It is also al- leged that Jones set fire to a hay stack at Lucasville last August.

U. S. STRENGTHENS ARMED FORCES IN CHINA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Brigadier General William D. Connor, now an assistant chief of the general staff has been relieved from that detail and assigned to command of the American expeditionary force with headquarters at Tien Tsin China as a result of a change in policy reflect- ing the increased importance at- tached here to the Chinese situation.

The comparatively small military force in China heretofore has been commanded by a colonel.

Under the new plan the troops at Tien Tsin will be under direct com- mand of the colonel and General Connor will have broader functions as expeditionary commander, al- though no increased military force there is contemplated.

The force at Tien Tsin consists of the second and third battalions of the 15th infantry commanded by Colonel Wm. F. Martin.

The troops in China are maintained there under treaty agreements worked out with China after the Boxer uprising. Their chief duty is patrolling and keeping open the Tien Tsin-Peking railroad.

PITCHING IN BOTH MAJOR LEAGUES THIS SEASON WAS HIGH CLASS; HERE ARE RECORDS

Two No-Hit Games Turned In Last May

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—Two no hit games, the seventh and eighth in the history of the major leagues, were the pitching features in 1922 baseball, a season marked by heavy and continuous hitting, according to semi-official figures.

E. Robertson of the Chicago White Sox sprang to baseball fame by running back the Detroit Tigers without a hit on April 30, and Jess Barnes, the New York Giants' veteran, entered the hall of fame May 7, a week later, by pitching almost perfect ball against the Philadelphia Quakers.

There were two one-hit games in the National league and none in the American, but the younger organization led both in the number of two and three hit games, that pitchers recorded. There were thirteen two hit games in the American against five in the National and sixteen three hit contests in the American compared to thirteen in the National.

Bill Doak of the St. Louis Cardinals, twirled both the one-hit games.

Urban Faber of the Chicago White Sox, and Stanley Coveleski of the Cleveland Indians, each pitched three three-hit games and Vaught of the Browns, finished two three-hit games in the American league's total of sixteen. Urban Shocker, another Brown star, finished one three hit game himself and worked in another with pitcher Bayne.

Jack Quinn of the Red Sox was the only man in the American league to pitch both a three-hit and a two hit game. The other three-hit pitchers in the American league were Everett and Robertson, White Sox; Stener, Tigers; Collins, Red Sox; and Harris, Athletics.

Herman Dille of the Tigers, turned in three two-hit games, and Joe Bush of the Yankees, twice led the opposition down with two hits. Other two-hit pitchers in the American league are Bayne, St. Louis; Robertson, Quinn and Pennock, Red Sox; Mayes and Jones, Yankees; Erickson, Senators and Uble of the Indians.

The two-hit pitchers of the National league are: McNamara, of the Braves; Aldridge and Osborne of the Cubs; Jess Barnes of the Cardinals, who also twirled one three-hit game, and Couch of the Reds, also with a three-hit game to his credit.

The other three-hit pitchers are Roney, Donahue, Conch, Lague and Markle of the Reds; Shriver and Trimes of the Tobins; Meadows of the Quakers; Toner of the Giants; Cooper and Adams of the Pirates.

Two Minnesota Stars Injured

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—At least two stars of the Minnesota football eleven will be out of the game from injuries when the Gophers face Indiana at Indianapolis Saturday, it was announced today. Otto C. McCreery, half back, is confined to his home with a swelling right ankle, injured in the North Dakota game Saturday. An X-ray has been taken to determine if there is a fracture.

Carl Scholtz, end, was injured in the grain Saturday and today he walked with difficulty and pain.

Same Old Alibi
HAMDEN, O., Oct. 11.—The Hamden baseball team motored to Beaver and were defeated 9 to 6. This is the first defeat since the opening of school. Hamden had a man on third and the Beaver pitcher threw a ball to the batter that hit home plate and bounced over the backstop and heavier noise piled it was a dead ball and would not let the Hamden boy score.

Run That Cinched World Series for Giants

When E. Meusel of the Giants slid into the plate safely in the eighth inning of the last game of the world series, he scored what proved to be the run that settled the series in favor of the Giants. The photo shows Meusel safe at the plate, with Schang, the Yankee catcher, about to apply the ball while behind the umpire is Frank Frisch who scored on the same drive, a long hit to center by George Kelly.

Washington C. H. Team Here Sunday

The strong Washington C. H. football team will meet the Smoke House team in Millbrook Sunday. There are several star players in the visitors' lineup and the fans are assured of witnessing a real gridiron struggle.

BUTLER WINS FROM WILLARD

Relative to the Butler-Willard scrap as the semi-final to the Marquette fight in Cincinnati Monday night, the Enquirer said:

"The semi wind-up of eight rounds between Earl Butler, of this city, and Soldier Willard, of Ft. Thomas, was a thrilling affair all the way. Willard made a splendid showing and won the admiration of the fans by his willingness to mix matters at all times, but Butler, by staging a driving finish, managed to earn the popular decision after the limit number of rounds had been reached.

OBERLIN TEAM IS CRIPPLED

OBERLIN, O., Oct. 11.—Oberlin will enter the football game with Ohio State Saturday with at least one of its regulars out of the lineup and possibly two.
Center Schwesinger, who injured his wrist in the game with Keuon last Saturday, will not be able to participate, it was announced today and may be out of the game for several weeks. Quarterback Weber is out of the game with a bad leg also received in the Keuon game.

Auburn Tigers To Play Army Saturday

AUBURN, ALA., Oct. 11.—The Auburn Tigers today are enroute to West Point for their clash with the army Saturday. The game will mark Auburn's first invasion of the north and during the past few weeks, Coach Mike Donahue is said to have rounded out one of the best football teams the Alabamians have sent forth in recent years.

REINHARDT HEADS JUNIORS; TO PLAY IRO NTON EAGLES SUNDAY

After the scrimmage work of the Smoke House Juniors last night the members of the team elected Bernard Reinhardt captain to succeed Charles Cleveland who resigned.

The F. O. E. team of Ironton has been booked for a game at that place next Sunday and a return game will be played here the following Sunday, October 22.

The Juniors are breaking in two new men who give promise of developing into good players. The boys of the Blue and Gray will hold a brisk workout tomorrow evening on the Industrial League gridiron, followed by a final practice session Friday night, in preparation for the game with the Irontonians Sunday. All members are urged to be out on both nights as the practice is absolutely necessary.

Explain Ruling

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Football officials in games played throughout the country have given such conflicting interpretations of the two important changes in the rules, inaugurated this year, one of which changes radically the scoring system of the game, that the rules committee of the American Intercollegiate Football Association today, issued a statement in an attempt to clear the situation.

Most of the trouble is over the new rule X, which was designed to change the play after a touchdown is made from a try for goal through a place kick to a "try for point" through one of three methods. Some teams, H. S. gym and every member of the aggregation is urged to be present at this time.

Hanging The Crepe

ORANGE, N. J., October 11.—Johnny Dundee, junior lightweight boxing champion, was painfully bruised today when he leaped from his automobile as it struck the edge of a forty-foot gully on the Northfield road.

Dundee, who was driving to his mountain home in West Orange, became confused by a heavy fog. He jumped and fell on rocks several feet below after his car struck the ledge at the top of the gully.

ARENA TO BE SOLD

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., October 11.—Date of sale for the Floyd Fitzsimmons' arena at Michigan City will be announced Tuesday. Bert Thurman, Collector of Internal Revenue for Indiana, said. The sale will be at Michigan City on a warrant of disclaim of $9,000, due to failure of Fitzsimmons to pay tax on admissions to three fights which were held July 4, in August, and Labor Day. Thurman said mechanics liens amounting to $4,000 have prior rights over the government claim against the arena.

P. H. S. Tuning Up For Ironton Game

With the slugging defeat handed them last Saturday by the big Cerebus football team still fresh in their memory the Portsmouth high school football warriors are buckling down to hard work this week in order to get in shape for the big game that is to be played here with Ironton next Saturday afternoon.

The Ironton team is light but fast this year with Coach Davies developing some real players from material that was not expected to be of use to the school's team. Their victory of 67 to 0 over Colletsburg last Saturday was a big surprise. Prof. H. H. Eccles of the local school witnessed the game and the locals know something of the kind of game put up by the orange and black defenders. Ironton is Portsmouth's bitterest rival and the locals will do their best to hand them a defeat that will be long remembered. This will be no easy job and the Red and Blue color bearers realize it and for that reason are working out doubly hard in order to present the best possible team against Ironton. The local team is not suffering with any injuries received to Saturday's game and the regular lineup will be started against Ironton when the two eleven's trot on the field next Saturday at 2:30 sharp.

More season tickets are being sold by students and one of the biggest crowds of football fans in years is expected on the sidelines when these two teams battle. Ironton is sure to send down a large delegation of fans by automobile and traction.

When the Doctors met the Giants last night they were defeated in the only two games played, the teams getting a late start on account of a lost ball. The first game was an easy victory, the physicians getting 14 points to the Giants 21. In the second game things took a different turn. The Doctors fought hard and had 20 points to the Giants 15, but the Giants did not give up and managed to come from behind, making the score 20 to 20. They then lost the ball but held the Doctors safe and on the next serve made the winning point. The teams will play four games the next time they meet.

Judge Landis Born In Ohio

MELVILLE, O., October 11.—An Ohio man drew a high place among the goals of this year's world's series. Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, dictator of baseball, around whom a great storm broke when the second game of the series was called at the end of the 10th inning because of darkness, is an Ohio product.

November 20, 1886, he was given the name of Kenesaw Mountain by his father, Abraham Landis who had been wounded at that famous battle place of the Civil War.

President Roosevelt appointed Landis a federal district judge in Chicago. He first came into national prominence when he fined John D. Rockefeller $200,000.

U. OF C. TO PLAY GEORGETOWN

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 11.—The University of Cincinnati football team made thirteen first downs to four for Kentucky University Saturday and yet was beaten 15-0. Kentucky State made two touchdowns before they had made a first down, one on a fumbled punt which was picked up and carried to the first yard line where it was pushed over on two plays and the other on a blocked punt which was recovered for a 40 yard run to touchdown.

The Cincinnati team gained much ground during the first half through the line and early in the second quarter had the ball on Kentucky's 35 yard line. It was here that quarterback Glasgow used poor judgment. His forward pass on the second down was intercepted by Kentucky. It looked like the Red and Black team could have gone through for a touchdown by straight football.

Capt. Palmer has shown wonderful carrying ability in the two early games and is counted on to worry the Georgetown forwards.

The return of the great punter, Linneman, to the University will add much strength in the Georgetown game. Linneman has not been able to play in the previous games.

In winning every start and coping the intercollegiate championship in record time, the Naval Academy eight easily stamped itself as the best crew on the water and Walter Hoover, the Duluth oarsman, in winning the American title and the Diamond Sculls in England won the individual honors.

Johnny Wolsmuller and Helen Wainwright made so many records that no one approached them on the year's work in the water.

Johnny Dundee won two ring titles, the junior lightweight and the featherweight championship of the New York Boxing Commission. He fought more than any other boxer, went out of his class more and earned more distinction than any other fighter.

Joie Ray won the national one-mile run championship for the sixth time and Pat McDonald won the shot put title for the sixth time, while young Hubbard, the colored University of Michigan star, showed form in the field events that promise to make him a great star.

George Hiler, in all around work, was the greatest baseball star of the year. He earned the title of the perfect ball player. Hornsby's great batting and home run hitting made him the brightest star of the National League and the great pitching of Ed Kornell, with the lowly Athletics, covered him with glory.

THREE-MILE LIMIT

FOLLOWING a conference between Secretary Hughes and Ambassador Geddes, American government agents enforcing prohibition were instructed to observe the three-mile limit. They are not to make search and seizure of foreign vessels beyond that limit unless discovered to be actually engaged in smuggling rum into this country. These instructions are identical with regulations governing the capture of vessels smuggling any commodity.

The question of rights and the practice of nations on the high seas is entirely apart from that of prohibition enforcement. Unless such rights are respected by this country it cannot expect other nations to regard its rights within the three-mile limit. Friendly relations are essential to co-operation in all matters, including the prevention by foreign nations of clearance of vessels from their ports laden with commodities contraband under the laws of this country. Such vessels may have rights on the high seas but none within the three-mile limit.

The high seas are subject to the laws of nations. The enforcement of domestic laws thereon could not seriously be undertaken by any nation. Attempt so to do might not only bring a nation into conflict with other nations, but in the end might also question the wisdom of the law whose enforcement was so undertaken. Much wiser and safer is the enlisting of voluntary co-operation.

TWO MOBS BEATEN BACK

THE rather easy manner in which attempted lynchings of Negro prisoners were prevented, one in Alabama, the other in Georgia, within the week, offers all necessary proof that any time the civil authorities show a willingness to carry out their duties lawlessness can be checked. In Georgia the fighting for possession of the prisoner was reported as spirited, but the mob as usual, when firmness is displayed, was defeated and abandoned its attempt to take the law into its own hands. And, strangely, the mob was denounced to its face by a judge who condemned the law-abiding and the better elements of the respectable portion of the community for the encouragement given to law-abiding lynchings by their silence.

The judge, in a burst of anger, accused the respectable element with direct responsibility for giving consent to mob law as a punishment for what was once commonly described as "the crime of the South." That negative co-operation, the judge reminded them, soon gave encouragement to lynching for all sorts of crimes and misdemeanors until now, he told them, there are lynchings for no crime at all, and white men are lynched along with Negroes. In the Alabama instance the judge of the jurisdiction immediately called a special grand jury to take action.

SCOUT NEWS

Troop 18, of New Boston, held their first regular meeting last night in the Immanuel Baptist church. There were about fourteen Scouts present and a very fine meeting was held, under the direction of Scoutmaster Frank Cooper. Scout Executive Henderson was present and made a short talk to the troop.

This troop is expecting to do great things in New Boston and will meet regularly, and have pledged themselves to build up their troop. Arrangements have been made whereby this troop is to have the use of the Wilhelmette hall on Thursday afternoons from 3 until 4:30.

Troop 12 held their regular meeting last night at the Bigelow M. E. church, with Senior Patrol Leader Chas. Frederick in charge. They report things going in very fine shape. This is the fourth meeting this troop has held this fall. The Bigelow M. E. church has leased the Moose hall for the coming year, and this troop will use this hall for their regular meetings.

month council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held Tuesday noon, October 24th. All members should make a special effort to be present as there will be a speaker who will give everyone a pleasant surprise.

There is a movement on foot for the formation of a Boy Scout band in Portsmouth. One of the best band organizers and leaders in this part of the country held a conference with the Scout Executive last Saturday, and he says that he can, without much trouble, form a 100 piece band in this city. There is some expense connected with this project, and if some arrangement can be made to take care of it, it will only be a matter of about two months until this organizer can give a public concert with a Scout band.

Things are rapidly taking shape for the formation of the Scoutmasters' school, which is to be put on for the benefit of the Scoutmasters and assistants of the local council. This course will be given by all local talent, and will be of great benefit to all men who are interested in boys' welfare. There is an urgent call for Scoutmasters in this city, and many boys have their organization inner and are clamoring for leaders. It is up to the men of this city to see that these groups are taken care of. This is the biggest and finest work ever, and any man who is not taking advantage of this opportunity to lead a group of boys is missing a chance to better, not only his own life, but to do a good turn for his country, by making good future citizens.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, October 11—A freckle-faced copy boy for the New York World collapsed to an uptown hotel the other night for the dramatic critic's nightly review. Three hours later he returned without his copy. He explained that he was lost in the Grand Central Terminal.

His alibi was accepted without question. The labyrinthine ramps and causeways that catcomb this mammoth structure are more confusing than "third rail" whiskey or the structure made in Crete by Daedalus. Rowdy travelers are instructed to follow the red, green or black lines—painted on the walls—and suddenly they may find themselves in Times Square or in some dark ghostly tunnel.

It is such a maze that often station employees become lost and rescue squads have to go out and retrieve them. Three weeks ago an aged woman from Troy, N. Y., was taken to a hospital in a state of hysteria. She had been trying to get out of the station for six hours.

The other day I was seeking one of the lower levels. I asked a fellow Alpine climber directions. "Follow the green line," he said cheerfully. In fifteen minutes I came right back to him again. It was then I noticed that he wore a brown derby and carried scissors in his vest pocket. So what could you expect? The turnings and twists are so complicated that many commuters who ride there by subway to catch their trains daily—and have for years—are forced to seek helpful guidance.

A farmer from New Jersey with plenty of red clay showing puffed his perspiring way to a station office late the other evening. "Goddamn it," he exploded, "get me out of this hellish contraption." He had left his wife to sleep around the corner to get a Betty Lee or some other good nickel cigar and had been walking for two solid hours. It took another four to find his good wife. She had not moved.

Over on Ellis Island in the evening when immigrants who are herded there waiting for word whether they may come to the new country or be turned back, there is a spirit of fortitude that is commendable. They do not whine. Indeed, they sing and dance and give little amateur performances, buoyed by the magnificence of the glowing city they hope to reach. Maria from Napoli sings her home made arias. A Russian shills his song of the native steppes and Rumanians and Poles execute their simple folk dances. There are melodies of the Near East, of Italian skies and of the hills of Holles. They are only timid and frightened when they see an American uniform, but the officers there understand and keep out of sight during the hour or so of evening gaiety.

There is a bachelor in New York who confessed the other day that he had a "dinner route" that extends over a month and then he begins all over again. He is a sociable fellow and is unhappy eating alone. He is such good company that his friends like to have him around and so by a systematic process he has so arranged that he can dine at a different home for more than a month at a stretch.

Street beggars are now making their "pitches" on the quiet streets far from the crowds. The police have become too active. Of course, they will sweep back again when the crusaders turn to something new. Only the totally blind are permitted on the avenue and important streets. Hagan's Roost, where many beggars live, is strangely deserted. "A lot of the boys," the clerk told a reporter, "have gone to Bermuda and Europe on vacations."

To a Sonneteer

Write sonnets, if you must, my friend; ah, yes!
The exercise will ease your writing itch;
But mind the hazards and beware the ditch
Of careless rhyming, if you'd have success.

Maintain the rigid form; do not expound
A noble thought or sound too high a pitch;
Avoid all Attie salt; leave out the rich
Harmonious tones that echo bookishness.

Not thus did Kents of Milton sound the note;
Nor thus did Shakespeare, Petrarch, sing. But, then,
They loved the songs that moderns merely quote;
They didn't write for tired business men.

But if you really write as Wordsworth wrote,
Enclose a stamp—you'll get it back again.
—Detroit Free Press.

Company

"It would be tough to be a fool but for one thing."
"What is that?"
"There are plenty of other fools to go around with."
—Detroit Free Press.

It May Be True

"Let me see, Mrs. Flighly has been divorced four times. Has she not?"
"Only three, so far as I know; but then, I haven't seen the evening papers."
—Judge.

Three Words A Day

MALODOROUS

Adjective; pronounced mal-o-dur-us; accent on first syllable. Having a bad or offensive odor, either literally or figuratively; as, a malodorous place of dirt and disease.

EFFEMINATE

Adjective; pronounced e-fem-i-nate; accent on second syllable. Having the qualities of the female sex; soft or delicate to an unmanly degree; womanish; applied to men. Example: "A manish woman is not more loathsome than an effeminate man."—Shakespeare.

OPPROBRIOUS

Adjective; pronounced op-pro-bri-us; accent on second syllable. Reproachful; abusive; infamous; ill-reputed; as, an opprobrious epithet or expression; or "I will not here define my unstained verse with his opprobrious name."
L. G. Reynolds Service, Richmond, Ind.

He Had

"What has become of that pirate who ran that bum restaurant in your town?"

"He's pulled up his steaks and gone."

Not an Effort

To the last of the long-limbed A. E. F., the days preceding their departure were so long and dragging that after a while hope ceased to spring eternal.

A welfare worker at an interior town in France came across a soldier in paroxysms of grief.

"What's the matter, buddy?" he inquired.

"It's this way," replied the soldier, raising a tear-stained face. "When the draft came they found me right away, and bingo! comes my number right out of the hat. But now that I'm here where they can put their finger on me any minute they want, seems like they don't make the slightest attempt."

Wise Jottings

So many things that are easy to recommend are hard to do.

It doesn't take an athlete to jump from the frying pan into the fire.

Love is a disease—but cheer up! Nowadays there is nothing chronic about it.

Never agree with a grouch; he wants everything and everybody to be disagreeable.

The bridegroom is the article that is thought about after the trousseau is completed.

Don't fail to lay up something for the rainy day, if it's nothing more than the borrowed umbrella.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

YOU know that a woman traveling alone registering at a hotel uses the title "Mrs." or "Miss" before her name.

To sign one's self "Sally Smith" or "Dollie Jones" is undignified and incorrect.

Only the oldest daughter or the only daughter of a family is permitted to sign "Miss Smith."

Mrs. J. C. Taylor will be assistant hostess with Mrs. Cooke.

The King's Daughters and Sons of Trinity Church will meet in business and social session at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Isham, Seventeenth and Waller streets, Thursday evening, October 12. The assistant hostesses will be Mrs. W. W. Robinson, Mrs. Wesley Bennett and the Misses Ada Rice, Margaret Becker and Myrtle Kepler.

A program has been arranged and all members are urged to be present.

THEATRICAL

New Show At Sun

The first two days of this week found Vogel and Miller's Odds and Ends of 1922 making a big hit with the good sized audiences present each day, but the bills to be offered tonight and tomorrow matinee and night is expected to win the company more friends. This bill, entitled, "A Love Nest For Two," is brimful of comedy and intermingled are new songs and dances. New specialties will be introduced by Vogel and Miller, the boys with the wiggy feet, Kellam and Kellam, baritone singers, Miller and Bennett, the laughing lads, and the four hard shoe dancers. A complete change of scenery and wardrobe, "Don't Shoot," is the feature photoplay offered as an added attraction. Herbert Rawlinson is the star, supported by an all-star cast. It is one of those kind of pictures that hold the interest throughout. Matinees each afternoon and two shows at night. Children's matinee Saturday for ten cents.

Was In Fomoroy

George Abrend, Chillicothe street merchant, has returned from Fomoroy, where he visited friends.

Play In Waverly

The Balbriggue Hit and Waverly fit teams clash in Waverly Friday afternoon.

New Garage

The Old Road Golf Club, whose links are located just west of Friendship, is having a large garage erected on their grounds.
